DEATH TAKES WAR SECRETARY DERN

'Strong Man' of Spain Attacks Britain, France

PRIETO SAYS NEUTRALITY PACT HURTS

Charges Germany Will Continue to Supply Rebels With Arms

(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

Spain's Socialist strong man, declaring his war-torn country the "Ethiopia of Europe," burst out today in bitter denunciation of France and Great Britain.

Indalecio Prieto, who as leader of the parliamentary Socialist party is the most important man behind the Madrid government, declared Spain had been deserted by the very countries which should be its allies in a fight against the spread of European Fascism.

The European neutrality pact, he asserted, will hurt Socialist Spain rather than help it because, he said, Germany, Italy and Portugal will sign the pact and go on supplying arms to the Fascist rebels.

Germany, he said, eventually will present its bill if the rebels win, and he suggested the possibility that Gen. Francisco Franco, the insurgent commander-in-chief, might one day give the Balearic islands to one of the Fascist powers.

These Mediterranean islands off the eastern coast of Spain might be an important factor in any Mediterranean war.

COLLINS RUNS CLOSE RACE

Sam Collins, Republican nominee for Congress, may stand second to Harry R. Sheppard, Yucaipa Townsendite victor, on the Democratic side when complete returns are available from Riverside county.

This was indicated today by incomplete returns from Riverside. Figures for 87 precincts out of 160 gave Sheppard 2111; Collins, 617; Joseph Seymour, 681; Harold P. Thoreson, 387; Ray Adkinson, 354, and N. E. West, 412.

Complete returns from Orange and San Bernardino counties, with Riverside's incomplete tabulation added, placed Sheppard first with 16,853 votes; Thoreson second with 5271, and Collins third with 5206.

Other Democratic Congressional candidates' total counts so far are N. E. West, 4527; Ray Adkinson, 4160, and Joseph Seymour, 1279.

On the Republican ticket Collins today had a total of 20,807 votes to 8356 for Adkinson.

Mrs. Roosevelt Passes Up Light

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Patrolman Michael Holly reported today he had warned Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to keep a sharper lookout after her car had passed a red stoplight here.

The patrolman said the President's wife had passed the light Tuesday when it was obscured from her view by a trolley car. After halting Mrs. Roosevelt and telling her of her mistake, Holly said, he permitted her to drive on.

Townsend's Lawyer Takes Licking

While Townsend-indorsed candidates for congress won nominations in 11 out of 20 California districts in Tuesday's primary election, Sheridan Downey (right), attorney for the Townsend movement, fell by the wayside, which was a great disappointment to the pensionites. The man who defeated him for the Democratic nomination in the third California district was Frank R. Buck (left), incumbent and outspoken critic of the pension plan.

Feature Harbor In Two Fairs

Orange county is going to tell the world, or at least a good portion of it, of advantages here for the visitor, the home-seeker and the agriculturalist, with a beautiful exhibit at the state fair in Sacramento, starting Sept. 5, it was announced today. The county also will be well advertised with a similar exhibit at the Los Angeles county fair, opening in Pomona Sept. 18.

Harbor Featured

Cost of the two exhibits was estimated at $2000. The combined displays will advertise Orange county to the general public for a period of five weeks.

Stressing development of the county's harbor at Newport-Balboa, the Sacramento exhibit will include a huge map of the county completely surrounded by "water" made with blue cellophane and bearing dozens of small boats and rafts carrying county agricultural products.

Four panels at the back of the central exhibit will have shelves for display of by-products, while in the foreground of the scene showing Orange county's harbor will be a replica of the "By-C."

Burglar Takes $150 Loot at Deputy's Home

Grace Hall, sheriff's office secretary, thinks maybe Santa Ana's screen-cutting and door-jimmying burglar is afraid of "the law."

While police tore their hair and patrolled more diligently in an effort to find him, Mr. Screencutter, who has burglarized a score of homes in the last two weeks, visited her residence last night. But he didn't take anything of hers.

He did escape, however, with more than $150 worth of jewelry belonging to Mrs. Maude Wiley, 810 French street, Miss Hall's landlady. He entered the house by prying open the back door and ransacked every room in the house except Miss Hall's. The two women were out to dinner.

SHOW STYLES SEPT. 19

S. A. Merchants Arrange Fall Preview of New Clothes Designs

Snappy!

Whether fall weather is snappy or not, the fall styles to be displayed by Santa Ana merchants will be among the snappiest, it was revealed today. At the same time it was announced that Santa Ana merchants will conduct their annual fall preview of autumn styles on Sept. 19.

In the past this event has been staged in the middle of the week, but this year it will come on Saturday.

To Attract 10,000

It is expected that many persons who otherwise might not be able to attend the display will thus find it possible to view the fall showings.

Ivie Stein, chairman of the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce, is in general charge of the affair, which is expected to draw 10,000 shoppers to Santa Ana.

All styles exhibited, in addition to being the latest in cut and design, will be authentic examples of the best being worn, it was announced.

Wide Publicity

All day Saturday and during shopping hours Saturday night, Sept. 19, the new displays will be shown in the store windows.

The event will be heralded throughout the county, with particular emphasis along the Coast.

A sub-committee consisting of George Spielman and Hugh Lowe was appointed after a special meeting this week to contact the stores and make arrangements for the event.

Bowman Receives Extortion Threats

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Federal agents intensified a search today for extortionists who demanded $50,000 from Wirt G. Bowman, Democratic national committeeman from Arizona, on threat of death to himself, his wife and their baby daughter.

Several letters received through the mails recently were turned over to postal authorities and the federal bureau of investigation by Bowman, who had posted guards about his Beverly Hills mansion.

WIFE KILLER EXECUTION DELAYED

Fate of Delhi Man Rests With Supreme Court Of California

Although Aug. 28 was set by Superior Judge James L. Allen for the hanging of Natividad Valenzuela, Delhi, for the brutal murder of his wife, Jovita, Valenzuela will not hang tomorrow.

Because the death sentence was appealed automatically to the state supreme court, and because that body has not yet acted on the case, a stay of execution has been issued, it was learned here today.

Decision Pending

Harry C. Westover, attorney, who defended valenzuela, reported that the supreme court will hear arguments on the case Sept. 1 at a hearing in San Francisco, and will render its decision later. Under a new California law, no murderer may be hanged until the supreme court has affirmed the death sentence. The law was passed after a Los Angeles negro found guilty of murder was hanged while an appeal was pending.

Valenzuela will remain in his San Quentin penitentiary "death row" cell until the supreme court acts. If the higher court affirms the death sentence, it may be necessary to return Valenzuela here for re-sentencing, District Attorney W. F. Menton said.

Smashed Skull

Prior to passage of the automatic appeal law, such procedure was required if the hanging was not performed on the date set, he said. Whether the new law does away with the requirement of a new sentence was not determined.

Valenzuela, Delhi Mexican, smashed his wife's skull with an automobile jack May 2 and rolled her body into Peters canyon drainage ditch on the road to San Juan Capistrano. Officers said he confessed the murder followed an argument over whether he and his wife should go to a dance.

Valenzuela declared his wife, dying, forgave him and told him to run, so that he would not be arrested.

ROOSEVELT AT BISMARCK

BISMARCK, N. D. (AP)—President Roosevelt arrived in Bismarck today for his first official stop on a 3500-mile "first hand" inspection tour of the great western "dust bowl" which probably will be interrupted as a result of the death of Secretary of War Dern.

The President was notified by telephone of Dern's death in Washington at an unscheduled railroad stop at nearby Steele, N. D., that delayed arrival here. He immediately dispatched a message of condolence to the cabinet officer's family.

Five Lose Lives As House Burns

HONESDALE, Pa. (AP)—Flames roared through a frame dwelling at Indian Orchard early today, killing five members of a family and injuring two.

George Griffin, 64; his wife, Irene, 46, and their children, Donald, 10; Mildred, 7, and Marion, 12, burned to death. Jean, 8, and Fay, 2, other daughters, were partially overcome by smoke, and taken to a hospital.

People Who Use Phone Booths Are Honest Folk

You find a nice class of people in telephone booths.

Mrs. Evelyn Aldean, 513 South Shelton street, is convinced of that today. Last night she left a purse containing enough money for a railroad trip to Colorado, in a booth at the telephone office, left, rushed back, and was handed the purse by a man who was telephoning.

The finder just kept on talking, she reported today. She doesn't know who he was but thinks he's a nice man anyhow.

LANDON RAPS 'COCKEYED' TAX LAWS

Attacks 'Wasteful' New Deal Spending in Buffalo Talk

ABOARD LANDON TRAIN ENROUTE TO TOPEKA, KAN. (AP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon left behind him a charge of "wasteful" New Deal spending and "cockeyed" tax legislation as he swept through Illinois today on a schedule of 10 rear platform appearances and a visit to Abraham Lincoln's tomb.

The Republican nominee was speeding toward Topeka on the return leg of his first presidential campaign invasion of the East.

'Heritage of Debts'

In the last of three addresses, he told a Buffalo, N. Y., audience that American youth faced "a heritage of debts and mortgages" through New Deal expenditures.

Landon demanded the immediate repeal of the law taxing corporations according to amounts of income withheld from distribution. This legislation, the Kansan described as "cockeyed." He said that "hidden taxes," which he described as taxes on "such things as food, clothing, gasoline and cigarets," now supply 51 cents of every dollar collected by the federal government as compared with 41 cents in 1932.

"In other words," he said, "the share of the cost of government falling mainly on those with incomes of $25 a week or less has increased 25 per cent during the three years of the present administration. They are paying far more than their rightful share of the cost of government."

Judge Rules in Drug Store Case

Santa Ana justice court has jurisdiction to determine title to the McCoy Drug store here, Superior Judge G. K. Scovel ruled this morning in denying Paul V. McCoy a permanent writ of prohibition to bar a justice court hearing.

McCoy contended the lower court did not have authority to summon him in connection with a case brought by Betten Detectives against K. B. Drug company and to compel him to prove his title to the store.

SON OF LATE AIR CHIEF IS DEMOTED

Confidential Documents Disappear From Car; Dropped 50 Points

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Lieut. William A. Moffett, jr., naval aviator, has been found guilty by a general court martial of carelessness in the loss of a confidential service publication.

He was sentenced to a loss of 50 numbers. This means, naval officers said, that he was demoted to a rank below 50 officers formerly his junior, and consequently it will affect his prospects of promotion.

Trial Last May

The findings of the court martial, held secretly in Washington last May, was approved today by Admiral William H. Standley, acting secretary of the navy.

Standley's announcement added only that Moffett had been restored to duty.

Moffett, an aviator stationed at the naval air station here, is the son of the late Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the bureau of aeronautics, who went to his death in the crash of the dirigible Akron.

Missing From Car

The officer drew the documents from navy files to aid him in preparing for examinations for promotion. The missing papers were said to have been placed in Moffett's automobile from where they disappeared in some manner not known to authorities or to Moffett.

The nature of the documents was a closely guarded secret, although they were said to include confidential publications used in signal work.

TO TRY EIGHT AS BOOKIES

Eight men accused of bookmaking were bound over for trial in superior court after an all-day preliminary hearing in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court yesterday, and four more defendants will appear next month for hearing.

The alleged "bookies" were arrested last week in a series of raids by district attorney's and sheriff's officers in four places in Orange county, including one in Santa Ana.

New Dates Set

Lyle Kelly and Emmet Mallot, arrested in Santa Ana, will have a preliminary hearing Sept. 14. The hearing was postponed yesterday on request of Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe, who prosecuted the cases. Kelly and Mallot are represented by Franklin G. West and Joe Ogle, respectively.

Jimmie James, represented by William Webb, heard his hearing continued to Sept. 15, also on request of McCabe. R. C. Phillips' hearing was set for Sept. 2. He is represented by Leo Friis.

Held to Answer

Those held to answer are Robert Lusk, William Hale, Paul Engel, Alex Anderson, John Callahan, Walter Hite, R. L. Bassett and H. B. Wilson, all represented in court by S. B. Kaufman, former district attorney.

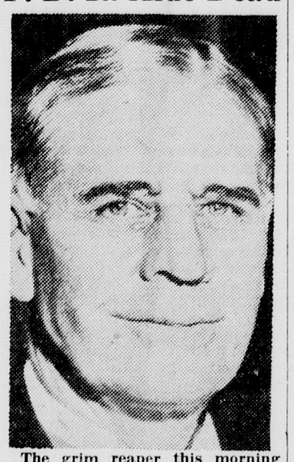

Additional counts against Anderson, Callahan and Hite will come up before Justice Morrison Sept. 16.

Lemke May Sue to Get Kansas Vote

KANSAS CITY, (AP)—Rep. William Lemke of North Dakota, Union party candidate for president, said here today he planned a court action, if necessary, in an effort to place his name on the election ballot in Kansas, home state of Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican nominee.

The Union party candidate was not in the field until after the deadline prescribed by the Kansas primary election law for filing of presidential electors and other candidates. An old general election law, however, provided organization of a new party by mass convention.

SPAIN SAPS STRENGTH OF POPE

Prelate So Weakened By Worry He Can Barely Rise

By ANDRUE BERDING
(Copyright, 1936, by Associated Press)

VATICAN CITY. (AP)—Prelates disclosed tonight that Pope Pius XI has become so weakened from worry over the Spanish situation that he scarcely is able to rise from his throne at the close of audiences.

The increasing heaviness of his limbs, the prelates said, might soon make it necessary for the 79-year-old Holy Father to be carried from one part of the apostolic palaces to another.

His brother, Fermo, suffered from the same malady and a year before his death, several years ago, was unable to walk.

The disclosure of the Holy Father's condition came after prelates had announced the Pope, assisted by all the cardinals now resident in Rome, soon would preside at an expiatory ceremony in St. Peter's for the killing of priests and the destruction of churches in Spain.

He also will soon receive Spanish bishops and priests who have found refuge in Italy and, in addressing them, protest to the entire world against the sacrileges of the civil war.

THUG ASSAULTS S.A. MAN

Police and David Drake, 422 West First street, today were puzzled. Especially Drake, who was slugged on the head last night by an unidentified assailant and taken to the county hospital for treatment of severe scalp lacerations.

Drake and V. C. Kelly, Orange, were walking west on Third street last night. They stopped by a parked car and kelly opened the door. Just then Drake was struck on the head and turned just in time to see a man running away. Police took him to the station for first aid and then to the hospital, where he was released after further treatment.

SPECIALISTS UNABLE TO SAVE HIM

Heart Attack Induced By Influenza Kills Cabinet Member

WASHINGTON, (AP)—George Henry Dern, secretary of war in the Roosevelt cabinet, died in Walter Reed hospital here today from heart and other complications resulting from past influenza attacks. He was 64 years old.

He died at 10:55 a. m.

Dr. Fritz Meyer, noted German heart specialist called here from Boston at the direction of President Roosevelt, was in consultation with the army doctors just before the war secretary died.

Under Oxygen Tent

During the night, it was disclosed, Dern had been placed under an oxygen tent in an effort to prolong his life.

Dern's death, friends said, followed a general physical breakdown originated in a severe attack of influenza when he was governor of Utah five years ago, and from which he never fully recovered.

Since then he has suffered from recurrent influenza attacks and severe colds which gradually weakened him and placed an extremely heavy strain on his heart.

Twice Governor

Dern—twice governor of Utah before rising to the cabinet—entered Walter Reed, the big army hospital here, on July 13 for "rest, treatment and a physical check" after he became ill during an inspection of army engineer projects on the Delaware river in Pennsylvania.

In April he spent six weeks in the hospital after contracting influenza on a similar inspection trip down the Atlantic Intra-Ccast waterway. He was brought back to the capital by plane.

MENTION TWO FOR CABINET

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Two names entered prominently today in speculation over a successor to Secretary of War George H. Dern, who died here today after a long illness.

Paul V. McNutt, governor of Indiana and a former national commander of the American Legion, and Frank Murphy, high commissioner to the Philippines, were among those frequently mentioned.

Harry H. Woodring, assistant secretary and another of those spoken of in this connection, became acting secretary of war today, and will continue to act as head of the department until a successor has been named by President Roosevelt.

Ethiopian Runs for Home

(Editor's note: This is the third of a series of six stories on the thrills encountered by a war correspondent and uncensored revelations regarding the Italian conquest.)

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Copyright, 1936, The Associated Press)

NEW YORK.—Memories of a war correspondent, retiring from that business:

The sun-blackened, altitude-tortured, foodless, waterless but absolutely unquenchable Italian infantry in Ethiopia seemed far and away better soldiers than Britain's first class regiments, the queen's this and the king's that, who were fighting the Arab redhots in Palestine . . .

The British Tommie has all the equipment found in a mail order catalogue, but he drops everything for tea at 5 p. m. . . . The Italian is just a whittler on a back fence, but a hunk of cheese and a slug of Chianti now and then keep him perfectly happy. . . . Italy's crack regiments, after tough battles, bersagleri, blackshirts, grenadiers, cracked rocks, like convicts, to make roads for supply trucks, singing and proud of the chance to do more. . . .

Incidentally, the Ethiopian is the most over-rated fighter in the world . . . he dances himself into a fury, waving his sword, before going into battle . . . then he screams and rushes forward, a great movie mob scene . . . he

VOTE WINNERS STILL KEEP VICTORY

Final Count Causes No Change; Watson Gets Nomination

Complete returns from Tuesday's election, as tabulated by County Clerk J. M. Backs, today showed no change in results announced immediately after the ballots were counted. Yesterday's winners are still the winners today. All that remains to be done is for the board of supervisors to canvass the vote this afternoon and made the results official.

Because of an error in addition of unofficial election returns, Clyde Watson of Orange, actual winner of the Democratic nomination for assemblyman from the 74th district, was announced as losing to Robert E. Crowley, in yesterday's Journal.

Crowley Third

Watson really led his nearest opponent by more than 600 votes, according to semi-official figures compiled by Backs. Votes were as follows: Watson, 3000; James Utt, 2295; and Crowley, 2112.

Following are complete county and district totals for all officials voted upon Tuesday by Orange county voters, according to Backs' tabulation:

Republican

Congress—Adkinson, 4939; Collins, 6629. State senate—Huston, 2472; McFadden, 6894; Smith, 2400. Assembly (74th) — Utt, 4635; Watson, 2093. Assembly (75th)—Kuchel, 2580; Morris, 431; Nichols, 1984.

Democratic

Congress—Seymour, 208; Sheppard, 7610; Thoreson, 371; West, 2353; Adkinson, 3016; Collins, 2030. Senate — Bostick, 5853; Westover, 7469. Assembly (74th)—Crowley, 2112; Utt, 2295; Watson, 3000. Assembly (75th) — Eades, 1174; Hatfield, 1436; Heffron, 2186; Warton, 1291.

Non-Partisan

Supervisor, first district — Cranston, 1156; Finley, 1843; Jerome, 2071; Martin, 954; Ocain, 207; Preble, 724; Robb, 1391.

Supervisor, third district—Carmichael, 1683; Lyon, 2431; Parra, 588; Riley, 3049; Tuffree, 2181.

County supervisors this afternoon were sitting as a body to canvass the official returns.

Before final and complete results are available, however, absent voters ballots must be received, Backs reported. Of 303 absent voters ballots issued, 258 had been voted and returned this morning, with 45 others to be accounted for. Ballots may be received by the clerk until Aug. 31.

Like Names Cause Embarrassment

There is Adolph Sepulveda. And then there is Adolph Sepulveda, jr. They are not related. One is in jail, charged with rioting in the recent citrus strike. The other is not in jail.

That is Adolph Sepulveda, jr. He isn't in jail, but his friends keep joking him about the similarity in names. He formerly lived at Tustin but now resides at 1620 West Third street. He is employed by W. Harold Finley.

HARBOR GRACE, N. F., (AP)—Harry Richman and Dick Merrill, flying from Brooklyn to St. John's, N. F., were sighted over Curling about 1 p. m. today. Observers said fliers apparently had begun their return trip, via Cape Breton and Nova Scotia.

ASK SPEED ON ROAD LINK

Acting upon representations from coast communities and residents of Santa Ana, the board of directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce yesterday requested the board of supervisors to take all possible steps toward completion of the South Main street cutoff to Corona Del Mar.

Stressing need of an easy route to the county seat and a tendency of new residents in the coast area to establish trade and banking connections in other cities outside of Orange county, the directors urged that the supervisors lead in activities to hasten completion of the project.

Work Progressing

Members also said that, with completion of Manchester avenue through to Highway 101, an advantageous route which would bring thousands of visitors through the interior of the county would be created as a result of the South Main street project opening.

Grading work on the new highway has been going ahead since Jan. 3, with a four-mile stretch between Corona Del Mar and the Palisades road about 45 per cent completed. WPA labor and funds are being used on the project.

The state highway department will be asked to allocate funds in the 1937-39 state budget for paving the 6.4-mile stretch, Nat Neff, county highway superintendent, said today.

To Move Airport

Refinancing of the grading and culvert project probably will be necessary before the work is completed, Neff said today, as the county's allocation of $36,976 has already been spent. The federal allocation for the project amounts to $144,853, of which $93,105 has already been spent for labor and materials.

With completion of the first four-mile stretch of grading, steps must be taken to open the remaining 2.39 miles from the Palisades road to Martin's airport, at South Main street and Newport avenue. Another problem facing engineers is moving the airport, hangars and department of commerce lighting system from the path of the highway.

Report New Case Of Paralysis

One more case of infantile paralysis was reported at the county hospital today as Robert Elliott, 5½, 119 East Pine street, was brought there suffering with infection which has affected 10 Orange county youngsters this summer.

Hospital attendants reported he was resting easily and that his case was not very severe.

SLOT GAMES ARE STOLEN

While police and attorneys scratch their heads over the nickel-eating marble machines, somebody's conducting his own campaign against the lever type of slot machine.

Sheriff's officers found that out today when two battered, broken slot machines were turned over to them after they had been found on Manchester boulevard yesterday, not in very good condition.

A cash register also turned up at the sheriff's office today after being found in front of a West Fifth street wrecking yard. Officers were attempting to locate the owner.

Boys Arrested On Hotel Roof

Two Los Angeles boys who admitted "they wanted to get some guns out of a sporting goods store" were arrested by police last night and placed in the detention home. They were 15 and 13 years old.

The boys were arrested after the Mulholland hotel reported someone walking on the roof. Officers found the two suspects and questioned them, then took them to the detention home pending prosecution for attempted burglary.

PROBATION VIOLATED

Mrs. Maude Owens, 52, Huntington Beach, jailed early this week on drunk charges, was rebooked yesterday on charges of violating probation from a previous sentence.

Never Heard of It

Everyone wondered why they didn't harass Italy's armies with guerilla warfare . . . two reasons: others may fight alone, he doesn't . . . others may fight at night, he doesn't either . . . extra reason, he never heard of it and wouldn't listen to anyone who tried to tell him . . . the Arab is a 10 times better fighter . . .

The cutest diplomatic stunt of the century was Italy's handling of censorship and newspapermen . . . even nice things about Italian soldiers couldn't get through to the papers . . . reason: as long as Ethiopia foolishly claimed victories she wasn't winning, the League of Nations and the world at large were lulled into a sense of security as to the negus' ability to handle the situation without help . . . the truth about the situation, what we were trying to write, might cause someone to force Italy's hand . . . result: no one fully realized that Ethiopia was taking one terrific beating after another until the Italians arrived in Addis and asked the world "So what?" . . .

Things Never Told

Things that never were told: a negro woman slipped into Italian headquarters two nights before the negus' last fight at Mai Ceu and gave all his plans for the attack to the Italian general . . . when the Ethiopian imperial guard advanced, the Italians retreated until 10,000 black men were racing triumphantly after them through a valley enclosed by two steep hills . . . there were 500 machine guns hidden on the sides of those hills . . . a little later there were 7,000 dead imperial guards in the valley . . .

Most of the Italians wounded in the body died of infections in field hospitals because asepsis was impossible . . . the village of Antola, back of Ambra Aradam, was so full of dead Ethiopians after that battle that the Italians just gathered what other bodies were loose around, about 2,000 all together, tossed them in with the rest, and burned them all up with the village . . .

REPUBLICANS RULE STATE SENATE

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—Republican control of the state senate is assured for another two years, nine Republicans having been elected outright in Tuesday's primary by the winning of both major party nominations. Fourteen Republican senators in even-numbered districts hold over two more years.

The Eight Seats

Third district (Humboldt county): John W. Runner, Eureka, Republican, vs. Irwin T. Quinn, Eureka, Democrat.

Thirteenth district (Marin county): Charles F. Reindollar, San Rafael, incumbent Republican, vs. Thomas F. Keating, San Rafael attorney, Democrat.

Twenty-third district (Santa Cruz county): Bert B. Snyder, Santa Cruz, incumbent Republican, vs. James B. Holohan, Santa Cruz, former San Quentin warden, Democrat.

Twenty-fifth district (Monterey and San Benito counties): Edward H. Tickle, Carmel, incumbent Republican, vs. Raymond W. Shelooe, Salinas attorney, Democrat.

In Southern California

Thirty-first district (Santa Barbara county): Edgar W. Stow, Goleta, incumbent Republican, vs. J. James Hollister, Gaviota, Democrat.

Thirty-fifth district (Orange county): Thomas L. McFadden, Placentia, Republican, vs. Harry C. Westover, Santa Ana attorney, Democrat.

Thirty-seventh district (Riverside county): John Phillips, Banning, present assemblyman, Republican, vs. Marcus W. Meairs, Riverside, Democrat.

Thirty-ninth district (Imperial county): W. S. Dunn, Imperial, Republican, vs. Edward H. Law, El Centro, Imperial county clerk, Democrat.

LIONS EMULATE TOASTMASTERS

Three speakers performing in typical Toastmasters club style entertained members of the Lions club today in a model program presented by Glenn Tidball, who acted as chairman.

Ernest Wooster, speaking on "A Jug Handle in the Mud," took as his topic a prehistoric bit of pottery found in oil well drillings near here, brought up from a depth of 3800 feet. He suggested the romance in study of early civilizations.

"Stage Fright" was the topic of Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth, who traced the physiological basis of embarrassment. He said adrenalin, injected into the system by the same force which causes fear, resulted in nervousness, perspiration, and stammering.

"The Hon. Senator Hornswoggle" (Carson Smith) presented a stump—or stumped—speech on "Balancing the Nation's Budget."

Malcolm Macurda served as timekeeper and general critic and explained operation of the timing device used in the local clubs.

WOMAN LOCATED

Mrs. Grace Farnsworth, reported missing from her home in Anaheim several days ago, has been located in Los Angeles, the sheriff's office reported today.

DERN DIES

ranking army officers were cognizant of the seriousness of Secretary Dern's condition for nearly a year. Although no announcement was made it was learned immediately after Dern entered the hospital the last time that doctors entertained little hope for his recovery.

Specialists from Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore were called into consultation with the army medical center's staff in late July, but Dern had become too weakened by the long fight he had made to respond to treatment.

Visited by F. D. R.

President Roosevelt visited the ailing cabinet officer at the hospital shortly before departing on his mid-August inspection trip through the New York and Pennsylvania flood areas, and since that time has received frequent reports on Dern's condition.

Dern brought to the Roosevelt cabinet an advocacy of preparedness for national defense although he declared himself "no militarist."

By backing up Generals Douglas McArthur and Malin Craig, his successive chiefs of staff, in their plans to reorganize, expand and modernize the army, Dern proposed to build the army into a small, but first class fighting force.

Five-Year Plan

Although the American army ranks approximately 17th in manpower—along with Portugal—it is now well on its way toward a five-year program objective which will give it new and faster airplanes, more tanks and armored cars, semi-automatic rifles for the infantry, modernized artillery, and other up to date implements of war.

During Dern's administration also, the war department extended its flood control program, started construction of the Bonneville dam on the Columbia river and the Fort Peck (Mont.), reservoir project, and supervised the organization and administration of CCC camps.

BANKER'S SON IS INJURED CRASH

Fourteen-year-old Billy Was, 617 Orange avenue, was being treated at St. Joseph's hospital today for severe lacerations of his left arm, incurred yesterday in an automobile accident at Laguna boulevard and highway 101. He is a son of Frank Was, manager of the Security First National bank here.

The accident occurred as cars driven by Mrs. Mary M. Baxter, 22, 929 Spurgeon street, and G. A. Cooper, 38, route 4, Santa Ana, sideswiped near the Irvine overhead crossing. George Detweiler, 13, was treated at the hospital for a gash over his left eye, and his brother, Ben, 16, was uninjured.

Chase Passenger

Maricio Morales, 28, San Juan Capistrano, was in the county jail today facing prosecution on drunk driving charges following an accident last night north of Capistrano. Morales' car sideswiped a car and trailer driven by Clyde Brissey, Van Nuys, then careened into an orchard. Joe Buseno, 38, a passenger in Morales' car, was captured after a chase by California Highway patrol officers and jailed on drunk charges. Morales' wife and child were cut and bruised, the others escaping injury.

Mrs. Grace W. Kelly, Corona, was cut and bruised last night as her car got out of control on Santiago boulevard and snapped off a telephone pole, according to reports at the sheriff's office.

Girl Hurt

She was returning to Corona from San Diego when the car skidded on the highway shoulder and struck the post.

Six-year-old Irene Ybarra, La Habra, escaped with bruises yesterday afternoon when she was struck by a car driven by Mary Henderson, 17, 2441 Riverside drive. The accident occurred on Fifth street.

Jane Chamberlain, Sunset Beach, was treated for cuts and bruises by a Laguna Beach physician last night after a car in which she was riding, registered to G. A. Stine, Huntington Beach, left the highway on Temple Hills road and skidded 100 feet.

ASKS TITLE

Mrs. Alice E. Dorrance, widow of W. T. Dorrance, who died Aug. 16, yesterday petitioned the superior court to terminate the latter's joint interest in property here and at San Clemente and award clear title to her.

SPAIN

appealing jointly for non-intervention to countries which have not yet placed arms embargoes on shipments to Spain, Prieto charged France had broken her word by refusing to fulfill terms of an arms contract which she, herself, insisted upon.

The Franco-British neutrality appeal was directed particularly at such countries as Czechoslovakia, an important arms producer. Germany, Russia and Italy have announced their adherence to the pact, although Italy has not effected an actual embargo, contending a system of export licenses will serve the same purpose.

Fighting Goes On

Fighting went on in Spain itself, with the loyalists announcing a victorious counter-offensive in the Bay of Biscay sector and moving in on the long-besieged rebel city of Oviedo, in the northern mining country.

On the other hand, the rebels said they were about to capture the important southern seaport of Malaga.

Rebel airplanes bombarded Madrid Wednesday night, private uncensored information reaching London tonight asserted. Damage to Madrid was said to have been slight.

From the western hemisphere, the United States warned Madrid it will insist on the freedom of the seas for American shipping. Spain has no right to bar merchant vessels from rebel parts, the state department declared in a formal note, unless it can apply an effective blockade.

Great Britain, likewise, recently served notice on Spain that she could not recognize a blockade, demanded non-interference with British shipping on the high seas.

A perhaps significant sidelight of the war today today found an American-made plane tuned up at Innsbruck, Austria — perhaps to take former King Alfonso home.

Government forces at Irun and San Bebastian, successful in repulsing a violent, all-day offensive, claimed they had pushed their attackers back along the Bidassoa river.

For the third day, stray bombs burst in French soil, across the border from the battle zone.

Backs Happy As He Gets Sleep After Election

County Clerk J. M. Backs and his deputies were feeling a little fresher today, after a night's sleep.

They didn't get much Tuesday night, remaining in the office until 5 a. m. Wednesday to receive and tabulate semi-official returns from the county's 245 precincts.

Because of the all-night session, Orange county had a complete tabulation ahead of other southern counties. Riverside had not completed its count at a late hour this morning.

'CHASE PARKING LOAFERS' IS ADVICE ON METERS

Clear the "parking loafers" off Santa Ana streets and let merchants advertise that they will pay a 5-cent parking-meter fee for substantial customers.

That is the suggestion of Vernon Andrew, 206 North Ross street, in answer to The Journal's request for opinions regarding the parking problem on streets in the business district. For today's letter Andrew will receive a month's subscription to The Journal.

What's Your Plan?

Send in your solution of the parking problem. For every letter published, a free subscription will be awarded by The Journal.

Here is Andrew's letter:

"Time equals money. Who said so? Not the man who is able-bodied and is satisfied with a part-time job just to get by. He has time to put long hours while he plays pool or passes his time away in some fashion.

"Now in my judgment, the business section of the town is operated by business men for business people, whose time is valuable, who want to spend money and be gone again.

Keep Cars Moving

"'Parking over-timers' are not those who buy goods, as a rule, a careful survey will show.

"The busy hostess who has company coming for dinner, the college boy or girl shopping for school, the active rancher who runs to town for an errand and must return quickly, and scores of others could be mentioned.

"These folk regard time as money. They and the merchant will both agree, a mere five-cent coin will not prevent them from shopping right now, and getting it over with.

Cash Customers

"I am for the parking meters. It is the merchant's opportunity to get more cash customers to his store, as it will clear most of the loafers from downtown parking places.

"I would advertise five cents parking time will be paid for substantial shoppers. The parking spaces then about any good store would be filled only by cash customers who are in a hurry to buy and go."

OPEN TRIAL ON STRIKE CASE

Accused of assaulting M. A. Patterson, citrus grove guard, with an iron bar during a citrus strike disturbance July 6, Severo Ornelas went on trial before a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court today.

Patterson testified he saw Ornelas swing at him with a three-foot iron bar, and that the blow knocked him unconscious. His cross-examination by James R. Le Gallez, defense attorney, was to continue this afternoon. Deputy District Attorney H. A. McCabe is conducting the prosecution.

Jurors selected this morning are Frank J. Snyder, Virginia C. Patterson, Kate Thompson, C. G. Meyers, Mrs. Margaret E. Clem, Etta L. Rogers, Edith Worcham, Velma Pomeroy, Mrs. Frank Richmond, Floe Wallace, H. E. Bird and S. M. Carter.

Drunk Driving Trial Opens

Everett Conkright, Santa Ana furniture salesman charged with drunk driving, was on trial before a jury in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court today.

He was arrested July 27 by Highway Patrol Officer Floyd Yoder at Santa Ana boulevard and Highway 101. Yoder testified at the trial that Conkright had told him then "maybe he had had too much" and that "he couldn't take it."

DIVORCE TOTAL GROWS

Four divorce actions filed in superior court here yesterday brought the month's total to 44, according to a tabulatiin by County Clerk J. M. Backs. Last month 49 divorce actions were filed.

H. L. "Hook" Beardslee's international championship star boat.

To Be Lighted

The sailing craft will rock with movement of the waves, according to plans of the designer, Charles I. Farber, Los Angeles.

Outlining the exhibit, which will be 21 by 30 feet in size, will be square trays carrying county products. A large sign, "100 years of progress in Orange county harbor," will be placed before the display, while a large central panel will offer educational agricultural information. The display will be topped by six lamp standards lettered to spell "Orange," and the complete exhibit will be lighted by floodlights.

Pomona Display Larger

Inspector Ray Starbuck will be in charge of the exhibit during course of the Sacramento fair, D W. Tubbs, county agricultural commissioner announced today.

The Pomona exhibit will be substantially the same as the one being prepared at Sacramento, although slightly larger. For both displays, 4224 oranges, 8640 lemons, 1700 grapefruit and 75 jars of honey will be used for decorative purposes.

Plans for both exhibits are in charge of the advertising committee of the board of supervisors, headed by Willard Smith.

BAR IN SPLIT ON F.D.R.'S POLICIES

BOSTON, (AP)—Members of the American Bar Association's special committee to study legislation affecting the rights of citizens split sharply today over their report on the policies of the Roosevelt administration.

Four majority members declared "there is no indication that the (Roosevelt) administration recognizes any obligations whatever to protect the individual citizen in his constitutional rights."

The three minority members, however, recommended that the committee be discharged on the grounds that they believed further consideration served "no useful purpose in giving citizens any helpful light on constitutional questions in addition to that already supplied by the opinions . . . of the supreme court."

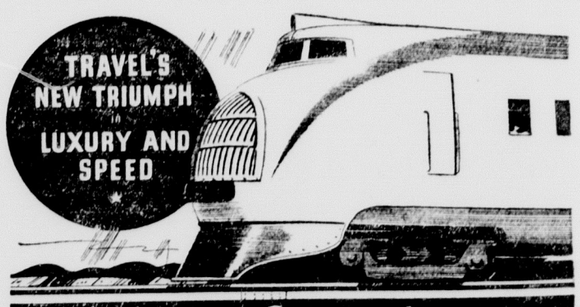

The minority asserted that because this was a presidential election year, further consideration would "result in embroiling the American Bar Association, whether willingly or not, in partisan political discussion and internal dissentions."

WILL REPORT ON COST OF PUMPING

Results of Survey to Be Made Public at Farm Bureau Hall

Results of a survey of pumping costs in Orange county will be made public tomorrow at a meeting of a subcommittee of the farm bureau water committee. The session in the Farm bureau hall will start at 10 a. m., according to Assistant Farm Advisor W. M. Cory.

The object of the survey was to show comparative costs of pumping water from individually owned wells and costs when the plants are owned and operated by groups of growers.

"As the water table goes down, pumping costs increase," Cory explained today. "The same investment is required for a well supplying 10 acres as for a well supplying a much larger area. If a group of growers unites and finances one well, the cost is thus distributed over a larger acreage. The plant operates over a longer period and brings the cost of power down into the lower brackets."

The survey was made by a group of University of California men, including James Tavernetti, Prof. Frank Adams, Dr. F. Veihmeyer and Martin Huberty. The information was collected last year and has been summarized in the intervening period.

DOCK LEADERS THREATENED

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Asserted threats of violence against longshore union officials today complicated the efforts of waterfront capital and labor to negotiate an agreement to supplant the award reached after the 1934 coastwide strike.

H. P. Melnikow, counsel for the International Longshoremen's Association district executive committee, said someone had telephoned his office and threatened: "If Melnikow causes a strike on the waterfront, we'll blow his brains out."

Melnikow told a joint meeting of waterfront employers and employes that the threat would not alter his attitude "in the slightest."

District I. L. A. President Harry Bridges and Executive Committeeman Henry Schmidt likewise said they had received threats against their lives.

Bar Votes Down Mooney Probe

BOSTON, (AP)—The American Bar Association today defeated a resolution calling for an investigation of alleged "abuses" in the prosecution of Thomas Mooney and Warren K. Billings, now serving life sentences for participation in the San Francisco Preparedness day bombings.

"The report is superficial," a committee report said. "It does not deal with the problem but concerns itself with a short-range attack on surface trivialities. The depth of the ocean cannot be measured by the spray that crests the waves."

Protest Noise Of Midget Racing

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Midget auto racers make more than their share of noise, says Mrs. Leon Yankwich, wife of a federal judge.

She lives in the neighborhood of Victor McLaglen's stadium, whose eight midget pilots and five track officials are accused of disturbing the peace and conducting a public nuisance.

"Our children could not sleep because of the uproar and when we had dinner guests it was impossible to talk to one another," she testified as the trial resumed today.

Commenting on current conditions in Spain, the Rev. Edwin T. Taylor, Los Angeles, will speak this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A., at a public lecture session.

Elwood Taylor will preside. Another speaker will be William C. Staneck, Los Angeles. Purpose of the meeting, in addition to informing Santa Anans concerning trends of the Spanish civil war, will be to organize an Orange county branch of the League Against War and Fascism.

FUND TRANSFERS AID SCHOOLS

Funds aggregating $56,609 were transferred yesterday afternoon from the Orange county general fund to special and general school funds in four districts to assist in building and other programs, following request of County School Superintendent Ray Adkinson to the board of supervisors.

The money will be paid back into the general fund when school taxes are collected and the budget is formally adopted, Adkinson said.

Schools and the funds they received are: Placentia elementary, $16,600; Centralia elementary, $5,763; Laguna Beach High school, $19,246, and Cypress elementary, $15,000.

The board also transferred $15,000 to the La Veta storm drain fund, to be replaced in the county general fund when the first installment of taxes is collected.

Navy Officer Is Missing

LONG BEACH, (AP)—Lieut. Wiley N. Hand, 38, aviation officer attached to the battleship Maryland, was the object of a statewide search today.

Navy officials and police conducted separate investigations into the flier's disappearance last Sunday, when his wife said he was "feeling moody" at being passed up by the naval promotion board.

POLICE REPORTS

Two minor boys from Anaheim who admitted stealing gasoline from car there, then driving to Santa Ana, were turned over to Anaheim police early today by Santa Ana officers. They were arrested after malt shop employes at 2209 North Main street reported they were acting suspiciously.

Orville Bolin, 21, 801 Spurgeon street, became frightened last night when a car without lights pulled up alongside him as he was walking along the street, he told police. He was brought to the station for investigation by Bert Dawson, merchant patrolman, who said he found Bolin hiding in an alley.

Boys fighting in a car at Camille and Garnsey streets last night were reported by an anonymous informant, but had left before officers arrived.

"A suspicious man who looks as if he had a chain around his neck" was reported by Mrs. P. T. Nordstrom, 2104 Cypress street. Police found no trace of him.

Yesterday's city court traffic fines: Speeding—Earl Bygum, $8; Clarence Ormundson, $8; Lowell F. Paggert, $8; William Weldon Dollingham, $10; Fred M. Withers, $5; Ned B. Phillips, $8; parking—L. A. Cruzen, $1; A. A. Wilkens, $1; failing to make boulevard stop — Robert McFadden, $2.

AND SO THEY DID NOTHING

Officials Officially Static

The board of supervisors adopted the newest policy of them all yesterday, even if it wasn't a particularly original one.

"Let's do nothing," said Supervisor N. E. West. "That's a pretty good policy."

The board did nothing.

It was embroiled in an argument over requests made some time ago by various fire chiefs, constables and law officers throughout the county for inclusion in the county's radio broadcast facilities.

It was the third time the matter had been discussed at some length by the board.

But it was the first time the policy actually got set, although it had been in practical effect ever since the question came up.

PENSIONITES PREPARE TO PUSH 11 FOR CONGRESS

SAN FRANCISCO, (AP)—California Townsendites, who indorsed 11 successful congressional candidates in Tuesday's primary election, drew plans today for backing the nominees in their campaigns.

Eight of the nominees were incumbents and the other three, Nelson van Matre, Harry R. Sheppard and Ed P. Sample, were newcomers to the congressional field.

E. J. Margett, state manager of the pension plan organization, said his group would put "workers, speakers and money" at the disposal of Townsend-indorsed candidates, and predicted 17 of 20 representatives to be elected in November would have Townsend approval.

District meetings of Townsend groups were held some weeks before the election to indorse a slate of 20 congressional candidates, but it was pointed out incumbents who received such indorsement were not necessarily in favor of the $200-a-month pension plan, founded in California by Dr. F. E. Townsend.

Two Newcomers Win

Two of the new Townsend candidates won nomination over incumbents. Van Matre took the Republican nomination in the first district over the veteran Rep. Clarence F. Lea, who easily was nominated by his own Democratic party. Sheppard won the Democratic nomination in the 19th district over Rep. Sam L. Collins, who was renominated as a Republican.

Sample captured the Republican nomination in the 20th district in which there was no incumbent.

California's complicated primary laws allow candidates to run for nomination on any number of tickets, but if they lose the nomination of their regular party, they are eliminated from the race no matter if they win on the other tickets. Victory on both major party tickets is tantamount to election.

Here are the incumbents who were renominated:

Republicans: Harry L. Englebright, 2nd; Florence P. Kahn, 4th; Richard J. Welch, 5th; Albert E. Carter, 6th; B. W. Gearhart, 9th; Sam L. Collins, 19th.

Democrats: Clarence F. Lea, 1st; Frank H. Buck, 3rd; J. H. Tolan, 7th; J. J. McGrath, 8th; H. E. Stubbs, 10th; J. C. McGroarty, 11th; Charles Kramer, 13th; Thomas F. Ford, 14th; J. M. Costello, 15th; J. F. Dockweiler, 16th; B. N. Scott, 18th.

Other Results

In the seventeenth district, Rep. Charles Colden appeared to have been renominated over Townsendite L. E. Geyer. The count in 417 of 418 precincts was Colden, 15,408; Geyer, 15,182.

The following Republican incumbents had Townsend indorsements—Englebright, Welch, Carter, Gearhart.

The following Democrat incumbents have Townsend backing: Toland, McGrath, Stubbs, Kramer.

Frank Arbuckle, western regional Townsend director, made an unsuccessful bid for nomination in the 16th congressional district. Rep. John Dockweiler, the incumbent, piled up three times as many votes for the Democratic nomination, and about the same number as Arbuckle on the Republican ticket where the nomination was easily won by Raymond Darby, mayor of Inglewood.

The Port of Missing Men

The following names of missing persons are furnished The Journal through the courtesy of the bureau of identification at the sheriff's office.

CALAVO UNIT ADDS LOCAL REGION

Avocado growers of the Santa Ana-Tustin-Orange district added approximately 65 acres to the industry's 1936-37 marketing program in the recent signup period, it was reported today by C. V. Newman of Tustin, local director of the Calavo Growers of California.

Since the opening of the current season, Newman reported, a grand total of 900 acres or more than 62,000 trees have been added to the orderly-marketing program. More than 265 growers joined during the period.

This year's crop is expected to total more than 13,000,000 pounds and may be larger than the record 1935 crop, Newman added. Income from sales of sideline items in July came within $67 of caring for total expenses of growers' cooperative, including all avocado sales costs, for that month. A final operating "dividend" for the end of the season, applied to all fruit handled this season, is assured, the association reported.

THORN in the FLESH

By GLENN L. THORNE

From Miles City, Mont., comes a news report from the President's drought committee which has been searching for "first hand facts." After considerable time and expense they have found "dust damage, grasshopper devastation, ruined crops and burned ranges."

Wonder if they ever read the daily papers? Meaning we read all that (and talked with victims, too) even before they got started!

Well you might not think it to lok at my picture, but food prices have risen so that it now takes $12 to buy $10 worth of groceries because of a shortage of crops. And it haunts us to think how we paid hard-earned tax money that we didn't even have, to "not" produce when we could. According to Michigan's Senator Vandenberg a single large corporation was given $1,067,665 to not grow sugar; another, $157,020 to not feed garbage to hogs; another, $23,845 to not grow wheat!

Wonder if it wouldn't be a good idea to have a good committee investigate possibilities of unforseen droughts before we "plow under?" Or—investigate the heads of Wallace and Tugwell and others who advocated reduction and destruction in times of plenty?

Sprague Opens Campaign Here

Elwin Elsworth Sprague of Redlands, Progressive party write-in candidate at Tuesday's election for the 19th congressional district nomination, was in Santa Ana yesterday preparing to organize his campaign for the November elections.

He will oppose Sam Collins of Fullerton, Republican incumbent, and Harry R. Sheppard of Yucaipa, Townsend-indorsed Democrat, for the post.

Sprague, who said he has been a lifelong Democrat, but registered Progressive to obtain the write-in nomination, said he is supporting President Roosevelt.

Happy Birthday

The Journal today congratulates: ASA VANDERMAST, 425 South Birch street.

Townsend Clubs

Harry Westover will be the main speaker tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. meeting of Club No. 7 in the Christian church, Orange avenue and McFadden street.

Club No. 11 will meet at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Franklin school, 1512 West Fourth street.

Drought Not to Seriously Hurt Supply of Food

WASHINGTON. (AP) — Department of agriculture economists said today the drought would have little effect upon the nation's food supply from now until the end of next June.

A special survey on "the food situation" by the bureau of agricultural economics said "the supply of food available for domestic consumption will be almost as large as last year."

Taking into account prospective yields and available supplies from the previous season, the report said the total food supply for the period ending in June, 1937, would be 3 per cent below that of last season and 2 per cent under supplies following the 1934 drought.

FARM LABOR SHORTAGE IS SEEN

OGDEN, Utah. (AP)—Leroy Marsh, federal district agricultural inspector, predicted today an agricultural labor shortage in the West this fall.

Bounteous crops, due to an ideal growing season, and heavy demands for western products from drought-ravaged mid-western states, he said, will bring about the shortage.

The situation will be met in part at least, he said, by idle workers from the drought area planning to come West during the crop harvest.

Stars or Oilers?

Huntington Beach will win in six games—Joe Rodgers.

Santa Ana will win in six games—George Lackaye.

There you have the conflict-opinions of the rival managers as they send their nightball hopefuls into the National league's four-out-of-seven game playoff series here tomorrow night.

Orange, Anaheim, Olive and Westminster are stringing with Rodgers because he has Louie Neva and virtually the same team that was good enough to capture the Southern California gonfalon in '34 and '35.

Santa Ana is stringing with Santa Ana because Lackaye has Jim Coates, truly a great twirler, and a club that can hit the ball harder than the '35 Stars who extended the Oilers in seven games last September.

Rodgers remarked at a recent nightball huddle that his Oilers would win four straight, but I believe he was joking, as evidenced by his prediction (received by this department today) that Huntington Beach will require six games.

The Oilers naturally will be favored to win—but not in four games. Their hopes for a four-straight showing, we predict, will be blighted here tomorrow night. Coates will win the opener.

Football flashes: Bob Faul 175-pound all-County league tackle from Orange High, is definitely joining the Dons next month. Faul lives in Santa Ana . . . Other Panthers headed this way are Quarterback Larry Todd, brother of Fullback Ray of Stanford; Ed Stanley, 185-pound halfback and end; and Jim Burkhart, guard.

Newell (Jeff) Cravath, Howard Jones' assistant who centered for Santa Ana High school's wonder eleven of '21, is in charge of 50 members of the Trojan squad appearing in a Hollywood movie now being filmed.

Orange is planning a "Roger Larimer" night to honor the slim nighthander who developed into the National Nightball league's outstanding rookie for 1936 . . . the Cubs will appear in a post-season exhibition series . . . Liston (Memphy) Hill, they say, will be retained as manager of Orange next season . . . Harry Nuffer, Orange commissioner, has been appointed by President Walter Wentz as chairman of finances for the Star-Oiler playoff.

San Bernardino will get a two-weeks' start on Eastern conference football rivals. Santa Ana's Dons launch drill Sept. 8. San Bernardino's Texan tutor, Douglas Smythe, leaves Saturday with 40 prospects for a week's practice at Horsethief Meadows on the north slope of Mt. San Bernardino.

Herb Freeman, the New York Jewish wrestling king who wrecked Mays McLain in quick order at the O. C. A. C. Monday night, started in the amateurs when he was a lad of 12.

Edwin Carnett, the southpaw whom the Los Angeles Angels "farmed" to the Western association this season, is slated to return to the Pacific Coast league in '37. His father, visiting in Santa Ana from Oklahoma City, reports Ed has won 13 of his past 16 games for Ponca City.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

GUY BUSH, Bees—Stopped Cardinals with seven hits.

WES FERRELL, Red Sox—Limited Tigers to five hits.

ETHAN ALLEN and AUGIE GALAN, Cubs—Former's double batted in two runs against Phillies in twin bill opener; latter hit double and single, driving two runs in, in nightcap.

Glenn Thompson's Eligibility With Trojans Checked

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Trojan 1936 football stock wavered today while the grades of Quarterback Glenn Thompson were rechecked at the University of Southern California to determine whether he is ineligible.

Informed that his scholastic standing had been questioned, Thompson said, "There's been some mistake—I thought I had everything in fine shape."

Possibility Thompson would be ruled off the gridiron this fall came on the heels of an ankle injury to another Trojan quarterback, Nick Pappas of Seattle, who was declared out for at least two months.

L. A. NEGROES TEST LOCAL FAVORITES

Ray Vargas, Art Arroya Vie With Montgomery Bros. in Top Spots

Smart Set battlers from Los Angeles will turn the "heat" on eight local fisticuffers at the Orange County Athletic club tonight.

Rated highly in the southland, the Smart Set fighters are expected to extend the local lads to the limit in the eight four-round bouts arranged by Promoter Bob Singleton.

Ray (Kayo) Vargas, who has earned the title of the "Atwood Assassin" through his sensational rise in the local fistic limelight and because of his sleep-producing punch, tackles a rugged opponent in Bill Montgomery, cagey Los Angeles negro. This fight should end with one of the fighters stretched out on the canvas.

Dusky Clarence Montgomery, brother of Bill Montgomery, has the clever Westminster boy, Art Arroya, to deal with tonight. Arroya, once the finest fighters hereabouts, is staging a determined comeback at the local arena.

Fans who like to see the heavy boys in action will appreciate the bout between Jessie Brazil, Westminster, and Sylvester Penegar. Both will weigh in at 200 pounds. Bernie Pollock, the "Terrible Swede," will box Bill White, Smart Set ace. Anaheim's Joe Orona is scheduled to meet Louie Hamilton. Popular Baby Rosales will battle Elmer Renfro. Placentia's Jim Merced, who is getting better and better, draws Richard Lemos. John Chavez, Santa Ana, fights Joe Caldron, of Los Angeles.

Inland Softball League Playoff Opens Tuesday

POMONA, (AP)—Covina and San Bernardino will settle the championship of the semi-professional American nightball league in a series of seven games starting next Tuesday, Al Morgan, president of the circuit, announced today.

With the first game at Covina, the others will be played alternately at San Bernardino and Covina.

Yellowfin Tuna Run Reported

SAN DIEGO. (AP) — Deep sea anglers are enjoying a run of yellowfin tuna, the largest in these waters for some years.

The fish, usually found off the Mexican coast, came this far north because of unusually warm water this year. The yellowfin is a fighting fish, averaging between 25 and 35 pounds.

Hollywood Nears Wichita Finals

WICHITA, Kan., (AP)—The field was reduced to five teams in the national semi-pro baseball tournament today and four of them will see action tonight.

Buford, Ga., only undefeated team remaining, will play Bismarck, N. D., defending champions, at 8 o'clock and Duncan, Okla., will play Hollywood at 10 o'clock.

Rookie Roy Weatherly Unhappy —Thinks He Should Bat 1.000

By BENNETT WOLFE

CLEVELAND, (AP)—A little, tow-headed youngster came up from the land of cotton a few weeks ago, unheralded and unsung, for a chance at an outfield job with the Cleveland Indians.

Today that young man—the name is Roy Weatherly—is being hailed as Joe DiMaggio's rival for the prize-rookie-of-1936 title. In fact, many of the experts say the swarthy Yankee youngster already has lost the distinction to the schoolboyish Weatherly.

Weatherly, known to his teammates as "Little Stormy" because he's that way in a ball game, had a batting average close to .400 for his first few weeks in the American league.

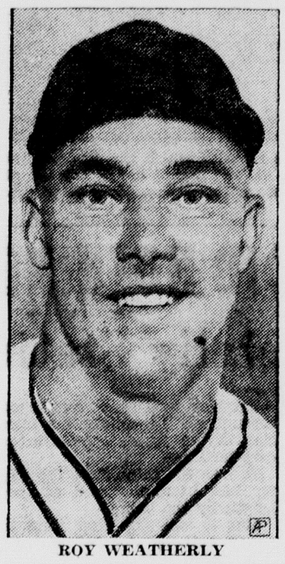

You'd think a 21-year-old kid would be pretty well content with that place.

But not Stormy Weatherly. He thinks he should hit 1.000. And the funny part about that is that he means it.

Scared? Not Weatherly

The Indians sent for Weatherly after Bruce Campbell was overtaken by his latest illness. They wanted to give Bruce a chance for complete recovery.

Beyond the fact that Weatherly had looked like a fine prospect in spring training with the New Orleans club and had achieved a creditable record in the Southern association, little was known of him.

ROY WEATHERLY

Of course he would be scared and nervous, but maybe he would fill the bill after getting over his stage fright. So thought Manager Steve O'Neill.

Steve might have spared himself such worries.

Little Stormy socked Wes Ferrell of the Boston Red Sox for two triples and a single in his first game. He has continued the pace ever since. He hasn't been scared or nervous, so far as anyone can tell.

It's All the Same

"The American league is no different to me from the Southern," he tells you. "The cities and the meal allowance may be bigger, but the pitchers throw the same kind of baseball. And I can still swing the same kind of bat."

'Little Stormy gave an example recently of his refusal to be impressed by the big league. George Moriarty, the "tough-guy" umpire, called a strike on him which the kid didn't like. Few freshmen players have dared to squawk at Moriarty because of his reputation for "breaking in" rookies severely so they won't cause future trouble.

But not Weatherly. He stepped from the box and told the umpire what he thought of that strike. Moriarty tried to stop him, but Weatherly's eloquence mounted. And not until he had got it all off his chest did he step back into the batter's box.

In the field Weatherly seems able to do anything DiMaggio can do, including throwing with uncanny accuracy. And on the bases he can do things the Yankee rookie can't approach, simply because he possesses more speed.

TYPISTS WIN 25-3 FROM WHITTIER

Lehnhardt And Miller Pace Tiernan's; Long Beach Game Sought

Stirring up two brilliant eight-run rallies, the champion Tiernan Typists of the Santa Ana Girls league, overwhelming Whittier's Amazone, 25 to 3, in a wild circus at the Municipal bowl last night.

Miss Bobbie Wakeham, returning from her vacation in San Diego, graced the mound for Coach Ben Koral's Amazons, and held Whittier to five hits while the Typists pounded the offerings of Pitcher Paine for 16 safeties.

Ruth Lehnhardt, catcher, and Phoebe Miller, centerfielder, led the hitting parade for the Santa Ana queens with three bingles.

Coach Koral hopes to arrange an exhibition with the Long Beach Sorority girls here this week before sending the Typists into the Southern California tournament in Los Angeles next Tuesday night.

Wilson Lost to Brooklyn With Fractured Skull

PITTSBURGH. (AP)—Eddie Wilson, hard-hitting right fielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is lost to the team for the season.

Dr. Charles F. Berg said today an X-ray examination shows the player's skull had been fractured by a fast ball pitched by Mace Brown of the Pirates in yesterday's game.

Ohio Farmer Wins Trapshooter Title

VANDALIA, O., (AP)—Joe Hiestand, 29-year-old Hilisboro, O., farmer won the class "AA" trapshoot championship of America yesterday when he broke 200 targets in a row to nose out a classy field at the grand American meet. The Buckeye sharpshooter won the North American clay target championship Tuesday, with 199 of 200.

Three-Eye League Manager Killed

ROCKFORD, Ill., (AP)—Harry Rigsby, who managed the Rockford baseball team in its last two years in the Three-Eye league, was electrocuted yesterday when he came in contact with a 6,900-volt transmission line while repairing a transformer atop a pole. He formerly played in the Central and Western leagues.

HOME SERIES TO BENEFIT CHICAGO

Wrigley Field Is Scene Of 9 Games, Including Crucials With N. Y.

By SID FEDER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Can the Cubs repeat? That's as big a question mark in the red-hot National league race today as the ability of the Giants to keep up their sizzling pace.

Back home from the most disastrous road trip of the campaign, the pennant holders are showing definite signs of snapping out of their doldrums.

The situation today is just about parallel to what it was last Sept. 4. On that date, the Cubs were in third place, 2½ games back of the league-leading Cardinals and half a game away from the Giants. They started one of the greatest winning streaks in the book that day, took 21 straight games, and nailed the pennant to their mast.

Cards Lose Third

Today they're in third place, 3½ games off the Giants' pace and a game back of the crippled Cardinals. They've taken four straight now, winding up with a twin win over the Phillies yesterday, 4-2 and 7-4, to give them a record of five victories in their six starts since returning to Wrigley field.

Before them are nine more games at home, including a four-game series with the Giants next week.

While they were advancing another notch up the comeback ladder with their double victory, the injury-ridden Cards took their third straight beating at the hands of the Bees, losing 10-3 to the seven-hit pitching of the veteran Guy Bush.

This setback boosted the Giants' pace-setting edge to 2½ games as they nosed out the Reds, 6-5, with Carl Hubbell turning in his 19th pitching victory to stretch the winning streak of Bill Terry's galloping crew to 14 straight.

Starting the headlines with the bitter National warfare were these developments:

Dodger Star Hurt

President Sam Breadon announced the re-signing of Frankie Frisch to pilot the Cardinals in 1937, a move apparently intended to have a psychological effect in shaking the Gas House Gang out of its collapse.

Wes (Bad Boy) Ferrell returned to action for the Boston Red Sox for the first time since his suspension and $1000 fine a week ago for walking off the diamond without orders. He limited the Tigers to five hits for a 7-0 triumph.

Rookie Eddie Wilson, freshman outfield star of the Dodgers, suffered a possible skull fracture when one of Mace Brown's slants hit him on the back of the head in the game with the Pirates. Despite the injury handicap, the Brooklyns belted the Bucs, 10-3, for the second straight day.

Vernon Kennedy pitched a four-hit game as the White Sox slugged the Athletics, 6-3, with the aid of Zeke Bonura's two homers.

The lowly St. Louis Browns again took over the job of chief baiter of the American league's leaders, the Yankees, by pushing four runs over in the fifth inning to sew up a 5-2 win.

"Singing Joe" Cascarella chalked up a five-hit pitching performance to give the Senators a 14-1 win over the second-place Cleveland Indians—the Tribe's second straight loss to the Nats.

OILERS WILL WIN IN SIX TILTS---JOE

"We have the better team, and the better team spirit, and when a game means something we have the will to win."

That was the statement of Fiery Joe Rodgers, manager, today in picking his Huntington Beach Oilers to dispose of Santa Ana's Stars in six games of the National Nightball league playoff opening here tomorrow night.

LACY HAS MUMPS

Tom Lacy, Orange's regular third-baseman, is confined to his home, 1116 West Second street, Santa Ana, with the mumps.

In contrast to Rodgers' optimism was George Lackaye's opinion that his Stars will win the series in the same number of games—six.

President Walter Wentz of Garden Grove will call his umpires together for final instructions tonight. He will not release until tomorrow his three starters for the opener, but indicated John Ireland, Al Kohler and Arch Hawkins were in line for assignments.

There is a possibility the National league will pick an all-star team to play the American league all-stars in a benefit for Earl Fogg, an umpire who was injured in a player riot in the inland loop early in the season.

SHOULD OWENS TURN PRO?

'No,' Advises Chas. Paddock

LONG BEACH. (AP)—A former world sprint king advised Jesse Owens today that he is making a mistake in turning professional because he can make $100,000 as an amateur.

Charles W. Paddock, the last white United States winner in the Olympic 100-meter dash contends Owens can net at least $20,000 a year for the next five years while retaining his simon pure athletic status.

As a professional, Owens' career would be ended in 12 months at least, Paddock asserts.

The former "fastest human," now newspaper business manager and sports columnist here, published his views as follows:

"As a professional, Owens is good just so long as the memory of his achievements in the Olympic games are fresh in people's minds. He will have a manager (perhaps several of them) and a publicity agent.

"He will not be adding to his laurels but rather capitalizing on them. And in his case, it is a perfectly proper thing for him to do. More power to him. But when he ceases to perform, he simply stops being 'news.' He cannot last very long. Therefore his earning days will be soon ended.

"If, however, Owens should stay in the amateur ranks, he would be good as a 'live name' for at least another five years. Owens could write, speak over the radio, act and run all over the world, making at least $20,000 a year and getting a training in business which would fit him to carry on after his amateur athletic day had ended. Presumably, none of his friends are considering what Owens might do for himself as an amateur. They are thinking in terms of ready cash and quick turnover."

LEVIN DRAWS CANTONWINE FOR BOUT HERE MONDAY

Making his first appearance in Southern California since he won the world's undisputed heavyweight championship from Vincent Lopez before a crowd of 25,000 fans at Wrigley field two weeks ago, Dave Levin, the Brooklyn butcher boy, tangles with the notorious Howard (Hangman) Cantonwine at the Orange County Athletic club Monday night.

Leven today agreed to terms to meet Cantonwine, who was named by Promoter Sam Sampson from a list of six outstanding grapplers.

Under the terms of the Orange County contract the champion will receive 50 per cent of the gate receipts, the largest percentage ever ever paid here for a single performer. It is understood the challenger will receive 15 per cent for his end and a chance to jump into the wrestling limelight as the new titleholder.

Levin beat Ali Baba one night in New Jersey to become the sensation of Eastern mat wars and climaxed his spectacular climb by winning the title last week from Vincent Lopez, the recognized world titleholder by the California state athletic commission.

Cantonwine because of his unorthodox mat maneuver, the "hangman act," wherein he gets his foe's head wrapped in the ropes and strangles him, and his powerful battering tactics, looms as an exceedingly dangerous foe.

For the first time in a year the price scale will be elevated slightly to meet the demands of a champion. Gallery tickets will be increased from 40 to 50 cents and a number of choice ringsides will be $1.50. Tickets also will be available at 75 cents and $1.

Oliquival-Pico, the Basque-Mexican who challenged the winner of the Cantonwine-Lopez match, has been paired with Herb Freeman, hit of last week's supporting performers, in the semi. Two other matches will be carded.

JOE'S CHAMPIONS ENGAGE ANAHEIM HERE TONIGHT

The Anaheim Elks, with five members of the Santa Ana lodge on their roster, will storm the Municipal bowl tonight for an exhibition with Joe's Grocers, City league champions and Santa Ana's entry in the Southern California softball tournament.

Manager Larry Owens of Joe's nine has signed Rudy Montgomery, Brea pitcher, and Herb Bowe, Elks' catcher, to bolster his lineup.

Bowe originally was slated to represent the Coast Auto Park of Long Beach, a team that will not be in the tournament which opens in Los Angeles Tuesday night.

There will be a 10-cent admission charge for tonight's game, slated for 8 o'clock.

The Anaheim Elks will wear the purple uniforms of the Santa Ana lodge, and Ken Miller of the locals will assist in the management of the Anaheim entry. Santa Anans on the invading squad are Elwood Lindley and Joe Cornelius, pitchers; Bob Schwarm, rf; Bob Wimbush, 3b, and LeRoy Levens, 2b and c. The Jones boys—Bob, Del and Bill—also will represent Anaheim, it is reported.

Joe's Grocers have arranged a return warm-up game for Monday night. Montgomery of Brea will be unavailable for tonight's conflict, but Catcher Bowe will be in uniform.

Jolson Seeks Opponent for Armstrong in Benefit Bout

By WILLIAM O. VARN

Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK. (AP) — Al Jolson, who dished out $10,000 a few days ago to become a boxing manager, eyed the added role of promoter today as he rubbed elbows with fistic highlighters in Manhattan.

The stage and movie singer, talking enthusiastically of his recently acquired featherweight, Henry Armstrong, St. Louis negro, said he wanted to sign articles for a ring headliner, to meet his fighter in Los Angeles in November.

"I've got a million things to do," Jolson declared shortly after his arrival from California. "You know you can't do these things without a lot of figuring and it takes time."

Tony Canzoneri, the king of the lightweights, is his immediate objective, Jolson admitted.

"My scrapper would have to give away about nine pounds to Canzoneri," he said, "and that's a lot of weight for little fellows. But I'm sure it would be a good 'go,' for I like my boy's chances."

Jolson hinted some other battlers might be considered, as he said, "this Canzoneri has a fight on his hands first. He's got to go through with that."

The lightweight title will be at stake when Canzoneri meets Lou Ambers Sept. 3. Jolson said he would "be around for a few days."

"I'll offer up to $25,000 for the bout," he said before he left California. He paid Wirt Ross $10,000 for Armstrong's contract. The young negro recently whipped Baby Arizmendi.

"I saw Henry fight a few times, thought he was a good kid, and the idea of staging a bout in the Coliseum at Los Angeles to help along the motion picture relief fund popped into my head," Jolson explained.

"We ought to get in a few dollars to help out this cause, where nickels and dimes are coming in now."

"Did you ever do any boxing yourself?" Jolson was asked.

"Oh! I puttered around at it when I was a kid, but I wasn't so good," he answered. "It didn't take me long to figure I was better at something else."

Near Riot Results as San Diego Whips Oakland, 1-0

(By the Associated Press)

Threatened fisticuffs, flossy fielding and excellent pitching were unveiled to Coast league fans in exciting contests yesterday which narrowed the margin between first and fifth-place teams to three games.

In San Diego the customers steamed onto the playing field during a near-riot after the Padres whipped Oakland, 1-0, in an exciting game.

A triple play and three double killings featured a 4-1 victory by the San Francisco Seals over the league-leading Portland Beavers.

San Francisco Missions took their second straight over Sacramento, 5-4, in a 10-inning pitchers' battle.

In a slam-bang battle, Los Angeles buried Seattle 10-4, to even the series.

The San Diego trouble culminated a game which saw Dick Ward win his nineteenth game in a row by limiting the Oaks to three hits in a duel with Southpaw Ken Douglas.

When Umpire Ray Snyder called Joe Gordon out on strikes in the ninth the Acorns swarmed on the field. Leroy Anton, ejected earlier in a game, and Ward nearly had a fight, which was a signal for the fans to invade the field. Order was restored before serious trouble resulted.

Neither Joe Berry nor Lou Koupal lasted long in the Seattle slugfest. Koupal, however, allowed seven runs in the three plus innings he labored, while Dutch Lieber held the Indians to two runs in 6 2-3 frames he pitched Steve Messner hit four for five to lead the Angel attack.

TANGO GAME SPECTER FACES HUNTINGTON BEACH COUNCIL

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's Rambling County Editor

By I. N. (BRICK) GAINES

WELL, HERE'S an animal story to stop all animal stories. We've had snakes that milk cows, dogs that are half cats, sea serpents that blow smoke from their eyes while whistling "Yankee Doodle" and playing a marimbaphone, and chickens that lay eggs with pictures of Aunt Susie's half-brother Joe painted on 'em.

But the dancing skunk at Three Arch Bay has 'em all stopped cold.

Experts can teach seals to stand on their tails and perform juggling gymnastics. They can teach cats to roar like lions and rabbits to battle bulldogs. But I'll defy any of 'em to teach a skunk to dance.

Especially on his front feet!

And that's really what happened at Three Arch Bay. Lots of witnesses.

The story goes that the E. Stanley Cribbs family was spending the usual quiet evening at home. The radio was oozing beautious music, and all was well.

The startling discovery of the dancing skunk was made when Mrs. Cribbs went to pull the drapes over a window. She glanced outside, and there was the skunk, in the patio. As the music swung into an alluring waltz, the odorous quadruped arose upon his forefeet, and started shuffling around in time with the orchestra.

Amazed, she called the rest of the family, and they all were witnesses as the playful polecat completed his vaudeville act.

If anyone can dig up a better story than that'n, they're welcome to it!

Speaking of Laguna, the traffic situation is still in a maze or something down there.

There are three different schools of thought—or is it opinion?—on how traffic should be handled. Everyone admits one thing—that the traffic is terrible, and there oughta be a law. But how to control it is something else again.

The planning commission says traffic signals. Synchronized ones. The Realty board says an underpass for pedestrians. And the chamber of commerce sticks by its plan for a secondary route, missing the business district entirely, for fast, through traffic.

Argument on the question isn't exactly heated, but business people are displaying great interest in a possible solution. How about trying all three at once, and throwing in parking meters for good measure? Just think of the fun!

While worrying about Laguna's highways we might as well go into the street-naming situation, too.

Councilman Charles H. Jester has suggested that unnamed thoroughfares be designated after residents who have distinguished themselves in the field of art. 'S good idea, except for one thing.

Just supposing, now, you're an artist. You have a cozy little nook on Bounding Billow terrace. Your name is Oscar Smith-Smith.

And then along comes the city council. They pick out a hillside street as yet unidentified on municipal maps. After lengthy debate, they decide to name the orphan thoroughfare "Oscar Smith-Smith street." That's well and good. Noble idea. But who could resist having an address such as "Oscar Smith-Smith of 102 Oscar Smith-Smith street, Laguna Beach?"

So, of course, you move your belongings to a new residence, and immediately start a campaign to have the name of Laguna Beach changed to "Oscar Smith-Smith, Calif." See where it'll end?

By short wave radio from the county courthouse, I get a thrilling tale of adventure from Ancient Mariner Bob Guild, who strays away from his own personal ocean to the arid Mongolian plains for his story.

It seems that a group of intrepid explorers were lost in the said arid region. Their horses had strayed away. They were without provisions. They were panic stricken, and about to give up their struggle to survive, when they found a herd of Mongolian camels, guarded by a lone sentry. So they bopped the sentry on the noggin, grabbed the Mongolian mounts, and started a dash for civilization.

And then—just about as they were about to escape the country, strange figures popped up from behind all available bushes and surrounded 'em. It was an ambushes. The circle of threatening figures drew closer and closer. They bared their teeth and chattered in gutteral Mongolian gibberish.

A weaker member of the party couldn't stand the pressure any longer.

"Goodness, gracious," he squeaked, "what'll we do? What'll we do?"

And immediately the stalwart leader stepped into the breach, stumbling over a couple of the Mongolian camels. "I'll tell you what we'll do," he cried without a quiver, "we'll give 'em a good old college yell before we depart this vale of tears. Come'n, now boys. All together—

"Give 'em the yaks the yaks the yaks! Give 'em—" and so on.

PETITION TO FORCE CITY ACTION

Special Election Seen As 415 Signers Seek Parlor Licenses

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—An initiative petition asking the city council to adopt an ordinance licensing tango games or to place the matter upon the ballot at a special election was presented to City Clerk Charles R. Furr today. It contained 415 signatures, according to circulators. Furr will start checking the petition immediately and will have it ready for presentation to the city council on Sept. 8, he announced.

Filing of the petition is the latest move in a battle to secure tango parlors in this city. The petition has been in circulation for some time in a quiet manner. Little has been heard of the petition. The ordinance which accompanied it is said to be patterned after those in force at Long Beach, Seal Beach and other cities where the game is licensed.

City Clerk Furr has 10 days to check the petition and certify to its sufficiency. Approximately 300 signatures are needed upon the document to force calling a special election. Officials predicted that it might be possible that the matter could be made a special proposition and placed on a local ballot during the general election in November.

The petition is the second to be filed with officials here on tango games. One other was filed with the council some time ago signed by more than 300 persons asking that licenses be granted for the game. Many protests arose, however, and city officials declined to issue permits for the so-called "skill game."

SLATE CONCERT AT ORANGE

ORANGE.—Another in a series of symphony orchestra concerts given by the Federal Music Project orchestra, directed by Leon Eckles, Santa Ana, will be given Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Woman's clubhouse.

The public is invited to attend the free program which will include the "Fourth Symphony" by Tschaikowsky. A fantasy for piano and strings composed by Earl Fraser, Santa Ana composer, will also be played.

In the group by Fraser will be "A Thrush in the Moonlight," "When the Wind Is Low," with Sadie Greene singing a mezzo-soprano solo: "Danse Pastorale," using woodwinds and strings and "Mazurka" by the full orchestra. The program will close with "Scherzo," from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," arranged by Mendelssohn, "Suite Algerienne," by Saint-Saens, which will include "Evening Reverie" and "Military March."

ORANGE LIONS HAVE PROGRAM

ORANGE.—Orange Lions were entertained by the Federal Music Project Hawaiian group Wednesday noon. Wayne Huffman, Santa Ana, is leader and other members are John Frisbe, Grover McLain, Lloyd Devers, Warner Kirkpatrick, Louise Wilson and Evelyn Skinner. The musicians gave a half hour program.

Prior to the entertainment, Roy Edwards gave a report of the Orange Lionette's soft ball game at Hollywood Monday night and Paul Muench, who recently returned from a fishing trip, told of his experiences. Dr. Thomas Rhone was program chairman.

Visitor Feted In Orange Home

ORANGE.—Miss Helen Gillogy entertained with a luncheon honoring her friend, Miss Edna Phelps, Phoenix, who is the guest of other friends in Tustin at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Gillogly, Tuesday.

Following luncheon, guests played monopoly, with Frances Dunston awarded the prize. Other guests were Margaret Rust, Mrs. Frank Bacon, Mrs. Arcy Schellhous, Mrs. Ernest Rueter, Tustin, and Dorothy Mayhew Santa Ana.

Orange Royal Neighbors Meet

ORANGE. — Royal Neighbors held initiation Wednesday afternoon when they met in the Smith and Grote hall, with Mrs. Josephine Rhodes inducted into the order. Mrs. Lenore B. Fletcher, Long Beach, district deputy, was a visitor. Plans were made for a potluck luncheon Sept. 9.

At the close of the meeting, the oracle, Mrs. Anna Linnartz and her mother, Mrs. Anna G. Heitshusen, surprised the group with a treat of ice cream and cookies.

PLAN MOUNTAIN PARTY

SMELTZER.—Miss Mary Kettler will entertain a group of friends at the Kettler cottage at Lake Arrowhead, Sunday.

Horses to Feature State Fair

Beatrice Powell, left, and Mildred Hocking are telling this big Percheron that they think he will capture prizes at the California State Fair in Sacramento, Sept. 5 to 14.

VALUABLE RUG RETURNED

Conscience Strikes Prankster

LAGUNA BEACH.—Good news awaited Mrs. Vera Vaughn, proprietress of The Brass Rail, well known downtown eating place, when she appeared at police headquarters in response to a request to identify lost property. For there, safely tucked away in a compartment housing recovered property, was an Oriental floor runner, valued at $150, that a Long Beach resident turned in yesterday with profuse apologies to both the owner of the rug and the officers of the law.

Though no official explanation was entered on the police blotter, it was intimated that the rug was taken last Sunday morning from the restaurant in the spirit of a prank or absent-mindedness without any criminal intent. According to Chief of Police Abe Johnson, Mrs. Vaughn declined to sign a complaint against the absent-minded customer.

PLAN MINSTREL AT BEACH

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — Tonight will be "fun night" for members of the congregation and Sunday school of the First Christian church here when the church workers will present the minstrel show, "The Lazy Moon Minstrels" at the Municipal auditorium. The show is one of the funniest ever attempted by the church and is expected to draw a large attendance. A two-hour program starting at 8 p. m., is promised, according to Rev. J. G. Hurst.

Many well known local business men and social leaders are included in the cast which numbers among others, Alf Dowty, Mrs. Gertrude Catching, Frank Catching, Leila Dowty, James Pistole, Robert Pistole, Rev. James G. Hurst, Councilman A. W. Morehouse, Fred Pickering, Joseph Axton, Fred Rowley, L. E. Worthy, May King, Mrs. Amy Worthy, Mrs. Elsie Rowley, Alberta McManus, Helen Axton, Dorothy Ann Hurst, Melvin Coker, Jean Koppl, Margaret Hengoid, Bill Hengoid, Sylvia Coker, Lawrence Worthy and Thelma Pistole.

SEEK BUS LINE AT LAGUNA

LAGUNA BEACH.—Possibility of cheap bus transportation for Laguna, with busses operating along the coast highway, loomed last night at the city council meeting with presentation of two applications for bus service franchises. One of the applications came from H. R. Stephens, owner of the Courtesy Taxi Company, and the other was submitted by John Bechtold, owner of the Laguna Beach Taxi Company.

The applications were referred to a special committee composed of Councilmen Howard G. Heisler and Tom Cummings and City Attorney Milburn Harvey for report and recommendations.

A letter was read from Fred H. Brown, representing a number of property owners on Chiquita street, asking for estimates as to cost of surfacing Chiquita street with oil and gravel. The matter was referred to the street superintendent.

Final reading was given two ordinances, one fixing the city tax rate, and the one relating to control and disposition of vicious dogs.

Death Takes H. B. School Manager

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Alex McAdam, for many years business manager of the Huntington Beach Union High school and prominent in club and social life here, died suddenly at his home early this morning. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jean McAdam and a son, Douglas McAdam.

He was a member of the Methodist church here and was active in affairs of the Masonic and Eastern Star lodges.

Rodieck Returns From Convention

ORANGE.—Arnold Rodieck, president of the local volunteer fire department social organization, returned home this week from the State Fireman's convention at Lodi. Mrs. Rodieck accompanied her husband, and it was reported that more than 300 firemen and their wives were present at the conclave. The meeting next year will be held at Redding.

CROWDS VISIT ART GALLERY

LAGUNA BEACH.—Included among visitors at the art gallery during the week were Shirley Temple, of motion picture fame, and Mrs. V. Walling Draper, well known artist of Tucson, Ariz. Earse Miller, nationally known painter, La Crescenta, and Mrs. J. Threlfall, of Honolulu, were also among visitors.

Mrs. Millicent Pitts curator, said today that two of the gift pictures donated to the Art association for the building fund, have been sold through the efforts of Mrs. W. B. Palmer, prominent clubwoman, who has been very active in furthering the interests of the organization. One of the pictures was donated by Edgar Payne, and the other was given by Nell Walker Warner, both outstanding artists.

Word has been received at the gallery from Benjamin C. Brown, of Pasadena, life member of the Laguna Beach Art association, who is now painting in Venice, Italy. Mr. Brown now has a picture "Early Morning, Grand Canal, Venice," hanging in the August-September anniversary exhibit in the association galleries on Cliff drive.

Editors and Their Opinions

A digest of ideas from Orange county newspapers, reprinted as being of interest to readers of The Journal.

EASTERN INVASION

(Orange News)

On the impression that Governor Landon makes on the people of the east, in the first major Republican move of the campaign, may very well depend the results to be registered in November.

The country as a whole, indeed, is watching the Republican candidate to determine what quality of man this is who challenges the legitimacy of New Deal Americanism.

Governor Landon is a somewhat new type of candidate, that is sure. He is not long on promises. He is without flourishes. He is direct of speech.

He does not believe that the relief roll is a place where any real American will choose to remain. He says so.

"The American solution of the problem of unemployment is real jobs at good wages. Toward that solution government ought to lead the way, not by squandering the people's money but by expending it wisely and carefully.

"It should lead the way not by discouraging business; nor by stifling enterprise; not by limited crops, but by pursuance of sound policies that will revive business and encourage enterprise and release once more the boundless energy and initiative of the whole people.

"This is no time for counsels of despair. The American people are not quitters. They have confidence in themselves and in the American institutions.

"I believe the time has come when they are entitled, in the field of government and business, to a leadership that will reflect that confidence and be worthy of that faith in America. Such a leadership will speed up recovery and hasten the day of our return to prosperity. Until that day comes relief must be continued. This is a matter of plain duty.

"But in the performance of that duty, while we ought to be generous in relief, we should not reduce the matter of relief to absurdity. Every man, woman and child entitled to relief should be given relief with no questions asked regarding race, religion or political affiliation."

This means that a relief organization as visualized by Governor Landon should be a business organization through which the money furnished by the taxpayers goes to help the needy, not to provide fancy jobs for political lame ducks. It means a relief organization somewhat different from the one now operating.

ADVERTISING RAISE SEEN FOR NAVELS

An additional advertising appropriation on navel oranges of two cents per box for the 1936-37 season, bringing the total budget to $650,000, was voted by directors of the California Fruit Growers Exchange in Los Angeles today.

"With this added appropriation our regular navel campaign in all principal mediums will be amplified with heavier coverage in the large eastern markets, largely through increased use of newspaper advertising and other point of sale efforts," said W. B. Geissinger, Sunkist advertising manager.

"This action, which means a total investment of seven cents per box, or around $650,000 for Sunkist navel advertising next season, was made upon recommendation of the advertising committee, following extensive analysis of the competitive situation by this committee, along with our advertising agency and advertising department," Geissinger said.

This aggressive move to hold and if possible improve the position of California Sunkist navels in the eastern markets during the Florida competitive season, is not without precedent. The Exchange maintained its advertising throughout the depression, and increased it when faced with the 1934 record crop, with very good results.

Although 65 per cent of the new funds will go for space, dealer service work will also be increased and will likewise be concentrated in competitive territory.

The Sunkist navel campaign will begin in November when this variety begins to move to market. The basic campaign previously authorized includes use of magazines, newspapers, posters and car cards. The increase will all be spent in point of sale advertising and merchandising in the eastern markets where 70 per cent of our fruit is sold and where we meet Florida in the increasing struggle for the preference of the American housewife, Geissinger stated.

A very satisfactory marketing situation on Valencias for the balance of the season was indicated by Roy Wohlwend, orange sales manager.

ORANGE POOL WORK STARTS

ORANGE.—After a delay of several weeks, metal lath for completion of the municipal bath house was scheduled to arrive today, according to an announcement made by Mayor A. C. Boice, Wednesday. It is estimated that the shipment of 7000 lineal feet will be sufficient to complete the building.

Twenty WPA workers were on hand this morning to start on the last lap of the construction of the bathhouse. So delayed was the work, that the swimming pool in the city park was opened early this month, although bathers had no place to change clothes. Hundreds of children and adults use the pool each day, coming to the park in their bathing suits.

HIRE TEACHER AT OCEANVIEW

OCEANVIEW.—At a recent meeting of the school board, William Leedke, Los Angeles, was appointed to fill a vacancy on the teaching staff caused by the resignation of Paul Beatty, teacher of the seventh grade.

The new member of the faculty is a graduate of U. S. C. and is a former manager of the Trojan band. Mr. Beatty, who had been connected with the school for the past year, has accepted a position in the music department of the Brea schools.

ATTENDS LUNCHEON

SMELTZER.—Mrs. J. O. Pyle is in Los Angeles today attending a luncheon of the White Shrine association at the Rosslyn hotel.

Thorough Thief Robs Balboa Marble Machines

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—S. L. Hoke, proprietor of the Edgewater Cafe, Adams street and Bay Front, is searching for a very thorough burglar.

The burglar, he reported to police, overlooked nothing in searching through his establishment early this morning for money. He robbed marble machines, an automatic phonograph, slot machines, and even took Hoke's collection of pennies saved to pay the state sales tax.

Mayors to Heave Horseshoes

L. A. "Mike" Hogue, former mayor of Brea, shows Mayor Charles H. Mann, Anaheim and Mayor Fred Rowland, Santa Ana, how to pitch horseshoes in a warm-up round preparatory to the county League of Municipalities contest at Newport Beach late this afternoon.

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE TO BE BEACH VISITOR

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Candidates for president and vice president of the United States will speak in Huntington Beach Sunday night and spend a day resting here and at Newport-Balboa, it was announced today. The distinguished visitors are Dr. D. Leigh Colvin, nationally known speaker and presidential candidate for the Prohibition party, and his running mate, Claude H. Watson, of Huntington Park, who is the vice presidential candidate for the Prohibition party.

Dr. Colvin and Watson will both speak at a meeting of church people of the city at the Christian church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock, it was announced today. Other churches of the city are to be asked to join with the Christian church in making the affair a joint service during the evening.

The two candidates will be accompanied by their families and M. R. Hinshaw, busines manager of the campaign. They will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. White while in Huntington Beach. Dr. Colvin is a brother-in-law of White.

Monday the party will enjoy bathing at Huntington Beach, and will be taken to Newport Harbor, where they will be guests of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce. The group will leave Monday night for Salt Lake City, where they will continue the campaign. Dr. Colvin and Watson are conducting one of the most active personal campaigns in the history of the prohibition party.

CITY LEAGUE TO MEET AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT-BALBOA. — Discussion of county-wide action on a proposal that the area join the Metropolitan Water district, parking meters and federal aid projects will be subjects of discussion at a meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities here this evening, Secretary Albert Launer has announced.

Also featuring the program will be final rounds in the league's horseshoe pitching contest, which is scheduled to start at 4 o'clock this afternoon on the O'Howell courts at Newport.

Dan Mulherron, county WPA director, will explain federal aid projects for municipalities, and discussions concerning parking meter installation are planned.

CHURCH GROUP PLANS PICNIC

WINTERSBURG. — Members of the Methodist church Sunday school will hold their annual picnic in Irvine park Friday, Sept. 28, it was announced today. Those wishing to attend are urged to be at the church promptly at 10 a. m., where Alton Hall will provide transportation. Mrs. Raymond Beem heads the committee on arrangements.

Election of officers for the Sunday school is slated at the regular meeting of the church members next Monday evening in the social hall of the church.

San Juan Man Is Brought to Home

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—George Barnes, manager of the Capistrano Drug company, who has been under treatment the past three weeks at the St. Joseph hospital in Orange for a blood clot in his arm, this week was brought to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnes of McKinley avenue.

Barnes' condition is very much improved, and though the ailment is slowly responding to treatment, it will be necessary for him to spend several more weeks in bed.

Joan Blanes, who lives with her Aunt Harriet, wealthy but eccentric old invalid, is greatly upset when her aunt invites three men—Rodney Mains, Stephen Carts and William Grove—to their isolated country house for the week-end and tells Joan she must pick a husband from among them. Joan gets little comfort when she seeks advice from her brother, Rickey. She, meanwhile, has invited another young man, Timothy Reilly. The guests arrive in the midst of a blizzard, and late that night the lights suddenly go out. Joan goes to the pantry to get some lamps and, a short while afterwards, Miss Andrews, the trained nurse, bursts into the library to announce to the assembled company that Aunt Harriet has been murdered.

CHAPTER VII

There was a moment of stunned silence, and Joan kept thinking: "It isn't true. It's a dream. It can't be true." Strangely, she was the first to find her voice.

"You mean," she said quietly, "that Auntie is dead, but you don't mean that she . . ." Her voice faltered.

A little color had come back into the nurse's face, but it was still obvious that she had had a severe shock.

"Yes," she answered, "it's murder, Miss Joan. I—"

She drew a long breath and her eyes sought Rickey's horror-stricken face. Joan noticed that a look passed between them that seemed to give the nurse strength to go on.

"I fixed Miss Blanes for the night at 11, and went to my room. Then I sat up and read. You see," she explained, looking around at them all, "I have to give Miss Blanes medicine at 2:30 every night, and I wasn't sleepy, so I thought I might as well sit up. Just before 2:30, the lights went out. It took me several minutes to find matches to light a candle. Then, a little while after that I went to my patient's room. When I got there I—I found her dead. I don't think she had been dead very long."

Rickey jumped suddenly to his feet.

"I'm going to see."

"Not alone!" Rodney shouted.

"Rodney is always so noisy," William murmured, "but I do think it would be best for us all to go together."

"Well, come along, then," Rickey mumbled.

Joan couldn't help noting that her brother looked frightened. His pale blond hair hung down limply over his forehead, and his face had a sickly yellow tinge to it. He and she had never got on particularly well, but now, she felt a wave of pity for him. He looked so completely undone.

Perhaps it was natural enough that William assumed command. Picking up one of the lamps, he motioned to Timothy and Stephen to take the other two, and then led the way upstairs. Joan's heart was pounding and, when they stopped in front of her aunt's door, she had to clench her fists to fight back a sudden nausea.

"Joan." It was Timothy's voice close to her ear. "Perhaps you had better wait outside. It may not be very pleasant."

"No," she managed to answer. "I think I should go in."

"It is not messy," said Miss Andrews suddenly, as they all hesitated in front of the door.

"Ugh!" William exclaimed fastidiously. "What a revolting expression!"

Quite firmly he pushed open the door and they all filed in.

Harriet Blanes lay huddled on her side in her bed with her head buried in a pillow. Between two skimp plaits of hair, a hypodermic syringe was strangely implanted in the back of her head.

Holding his lamp high, William approached the bed.

"Cause of death obvious," Stephan murmured suddenly. "The needle has been plunged into the base of the cranium. Death was instantaneous." And then his face turned a greenish white. "I think I'm going to be sick," he said weakly, and turned towards the door.

"We'll have to call the police," Timothy remarked quietly.

"The telephone wires are down, too," Rickey informed them, in a weary sort of voice. "And no man alive could make his way ten miles to the village in this blizzard."

"I'm willing to try on snow shoes, if there are any," Timothy volunteered.

"That," growled Rodney, "would be an excellent way to escape."

Timothy glared at him. "Are you implying—"

"I suggest," interrupted William, "that we leave this room for a moment, and go where we can discuss matters more freely."

They all followed him into the hall, and he carefully closed the door. Then he turned to Timothy.

"Rodney has the right idea," he said quietly. "No one must leave this house until the police come, and since it seems to be impossible to get in touch with the police at the moment we'll have to carry on for a while without them."

"And what do you suggest we do?" asked Rodney.

"Lock the room until tomorrow morning," Timothy answered, before William had a chance. "We're all nervously unstrung right now, and if we can manage to get some sleep, we'll be better able to cope with the situation."

"I think perhaps you are right," William admitted grudgingly. "But since you have such brilliant ideas, what about the key? Who's to be trusted to take charge of it? We can't run the risk of some one's sneaking into that room and destroying clues." He paused. "Perhaps we'd better examine the room tonight."

"The light will be better in the morning," Timothy insisted.

No one spoke for a moment.

"Well, we've got to decide something," Stephen said at last, wiping his face with a large handkerchief.

"Yes," Timothy agreed. "What about two of us sharing a room and, between us, guarding the key?"

Rickey looked at Joan. "We might put William and Timothy together to guard the key," he said slowly. "No fear of complicity in that, do you think?"

Joan glanced inquiringly at Timothy, and he nodded.

"I'm willing, if Grove is."

"Anything to oblige," William murmured.

Joan began to feel that his sarcastic composure was maddening, but then, everything was more or less maddening in this horrible nightmare.

It was with a sense of relief that she finally went to her room after Aunt Harriet's door had been locked and everyone had said goodnight. But she found little comfort in being alone, tired though she was. Her candle, flickering grotesque shadows on the wall, and the wind whistled mournfully. She undressed slowly, wondering if she would be able to sleep.

Then, suddenly, her heart jumped, as there came a soft, insistent tapping at the door.

SPEAKER FOR AIR RACES ON KVOE

Deckert to Interview Ted Griswold at 8 o'Clock Tonight

Ted Griswold, activities director for the National Air Races to be held at Los Angeles Municipal Airport Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7, will be interviewed by Dale Deckert, prominent in aviation activities in Orange county and chief pilot of the Orange County Aviation association, on KVOE tonight at 8 o'clock.

Griswold was a member of the second Byrd expedition to Little America. Last Saturday over KVOE he told of many interesting experiences during the expedition, pointing out that aviation played an important part in the success of the venture. Tonight he will give further details of the air races and of the thrilling and interesting events to be seen.

MORNING CLUB ELECTS TWO

The Breakfast club mixed business with entertainment this morning, and after a reading by Art Casey, and clarinet solos by Lyle Roberts, accompanied by Adaline Harrell, pianist, went into executive session and elected A. G. Steed a director, and Pete Busker secretary-director. E. D. Gold was appointed a member of the ways and means committee.

Casey was presented by Floyd Stewart, and Roberts by Harold Mathews. Roberts was clarinet soloist for the Al G. Barnes circus for several years.

POLLY MORAN'S MATE FINED

BEVERLY HILLS. (AP)—Martin Malone, the husky Irish husband of Polly Moran, paid a $100 fine yesterday for that little disturbance in his home July 15.

In addition, Justice of the Peace Cecil D. Holland gave him a 90-day jail sentence and then suspended it; put him on probation for 12 months; ordered him to abstain from intoxicating liquor for six months; and directed him to report on the last Tuesday of each month for six months to the probation officer.

Malone became entangled with the law when the screams of his actress-wife brought sheriff's deputies to their Havenhurst avenue residence. At first he was charged with assault with a deadly weapon. Miss Moran even contemplated a divorce. Then domestic peace was restored, and she testified at his preliminary hearing that it was all just a misunderstanding.

MAYNARD FILM FOR STATE

Starring Ken Maynard, who rides his beautiful, educated horse in the picture, "Fugitive Sheriff" is coming to the State theater Friday for an engagement of two days.

"Fugitive Sheriff" tells the story of a man who is framed as a train robber and murderer by desperadoes, but he finally proves himself innocent and sends the gang to prison.

In the cast with him are Beth Marion, Walter Miller, Hal Price, Virginia True Boardman and others.

Also on the bill will be a comedy, "Beware of Blondes;" a colored cartoon, "Simple Simon;" chapter No. 5 of "Rex and Rinty;" and a newsreel.

Heir to Spanish Crown in Hospital

NEW YORK. (AP)—Alfonso de Bourbon, Count of Covadonga and erstwhile heir to the Spanish throne, was reported resting comfortably today at the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, where he was rushed last night suffering a hemorrhage.

Dr. Antonio Valenti and Dr. Louis Ruffoloa of the hospital staff said the count was in no danger and that the hemorrhage was slight.

The count is a sufferer from hemophilia, a condition which causes its victims to bleed excessively from the slightest wounds. The disease is common to male descendants of the Hapsburg Battenberg line, and is transmitted through the women of that family, who, however, are not affected.

JUDGES PICK SIX RADIO WINNERS

When the radio program "California Hour" goes on the air over the Columbia-Don Lee network and KHJ next Monday night with a special broadcast dedicated to Orange county, a varied array of first class local radio talent will constitute the bulk of the program.

A judging committee of prominent Orange county citizens sat in on a final audition broadcast over KVOE last night and picked the following six acts as outstanding musical artists of the county:

Winners

Sally Coe Mueller, 141 North Cambridge, Orange, coloratura soprano; G. Willard Bassett, 1008 North Broadway, Santa Ana, tenor; Georgia Belle Walton, 2462 Riverside drive, Santa Ana, violinist; Arras Bugge, 307 Wright street, Santa Ana, baritone; "The Modern Melodists," (Paul and Ed Elsner, Ellen and Katherine Collins, 1492 Santa Ana street, Anaheim), mixed vocal quartet; "The Saxophone Quintet," (Allen Dale Twiggs, 1111 East Santa Ana, Anaheim; Chuck Borland, 329 North Wood, Fullerton; Les Rankin, Santa Ana; Bill Hudspeth, 910 South Birch, Santa Ana; Stan Logsdon, 112 West Pine, Santa Ana).

Most of the winners are well known in Orange county musical circles, and all are keenly ambitious for radio careers. They were selected from several hundred professional and amateur contestants from all parts of the county, in two days of preliminary auditions in Anaheim and Santa Ana. The program's talent scouts believe they have made several fine discoveries amongst Orange county musicians.

To Be Featured

The committee of judges consisted of Mayors Fred C. Rowland of Santa Ana, Harry G. Maxwell of Fullerton, Dr. A. Croxton Boice of Orange, and Mrs. Ed Keath of Anaheim, county chairman of the Parents' education and study group.

The winners have been booked to appear on several local entertainments over the next week. On Sunday they will go to Los Angeles for two days of rehearsal with the cast of the show before their featured appearance on "California's Hour" Monday night. Each will receive $40 in cash, and a statewide mail vote following the broadcast will retain one Orange county artist in the contest, awarding him an additional $50 and entitling him to compete for further prizes up to $500 in the statewide "California Hour" tournament.

The "California's Hour" salute to Orange county will be heard over KHJ Monday from 9 to 10 p. m.

'HIT' TUNES ON AIR TONIGHT

"When I'm With You," "Knock Knock" and "Did I Remember" are numbers one, two and three, respectively, in this week's "Top Tunes of the Day" program to be broadcast from KVOE at 7 o'clock tonight and to include the eight most popular numbers of the week in reverse order of their selection.

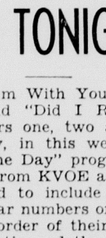

Paul Martin and the studio orchestra will be featured.

Other tunes to be heard will include "No Regrets," "Me and the Moon," "On the Beach at Bali Bali" and others.

Melody Sketches on KVOE Tonight

The Salon String Ensemble, with the voice of Maurice Gunsky, will offer another presentation of "Sketches in Melody" tonight at 8:30 on KVOE to include the novelty number "Tricky Toon," the musical picture "Hours of Loneliness," and "Darling Ella May," "Consolation" and the modern melody "Oo Hoo."

At 8:45, Richard Aurandt at the console of the organ will play "Ye Who Have Yearned Alone," "The Last Rose of Summer" and Lamare's "Andantino." John Chapman will sing.

AID TO VOTERS APPRECIATED

Appreciation for the courtesy and consideration shown to Santa Anans who would have been unable to reach the polls Tuesday had transportation not been furnished them, was expressed today by W. H. Paul, member of Townsend club No. 10.

Paul, who assisted in arranging transportation for elderly and infirm voters, expressed gratitude for the attitude of precinct officers toward those he aided.

His views were voiced in the following letter to The Journal:

"On Aug. 25, it was my privilege and pleasure to be one of those assigned to the duty of assisting the infirm members of the Townhomes to the polls and return.

"I wish to express through the columns of your valuable paper, my gratitude for the courtesy and consideration shown by officers of our polling stations to those infirm citizens, as they arrived to cast their ballots."

BULLET IS FATAL

MEXICO CITY, (AP)—W. H. Fraser, 54, general manager of the Mexican Light and Power company, died today of a bullet wound in the spine received Tuesday when a former employe of the company attacked him.

Richest Girl in World Can't Have Pool She Wants

HONOLULU. (AP)—Mrs. Doris Duke Cromwell, one of the richest girls in the world, cannot have a swimming pool which she wished built in the surf opposite the home site she purchased recently at Kalalawai, outside Honolulu.

The board of harbor commissioners voted three to two to refuse her permission to construct a seawall and pool on the grounds it would be illegal to give a private grant or monopoly on shore and its lands "which are a public trust."

To grant the request, said Commissioner A. T. Longley, "would be class legislation" and would set a precedent, for which reasons it was inadvisable.

300 MINERS ON HUNGER STRIKE

BEUTHEN, Polish Upper Silesia. (AP)—Wives, mothers and children wailed today at the head of a coal mine shaft at Maladombrowka, where 300 miners have been on a hunger strike for five days.

Daily, at noon, the self-imprisoned miners underground lift their voices in a "hymn of sorrow."

The underground chorus chants the strikers' demands; the strikers above the ground chant a response. And the women and children weep.

Deep down on the floor of the main shaft the hunger strikers have set a table. There is no food on it; only green twigs.

The miners swear they will not emerge until their overdue wages are laid on this table.

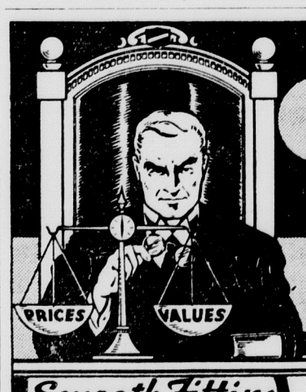

SLAYING OF GIRL, 15, IS SOLVED

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—The casual remark of a youth arrested as a vagrant supplied a lead to what Sheriff George Carroll of Cheyenne hoped today was a solution of the hatchet killing of a 15-year-old Pueblo, Colo., girl.

Carroll said Joe Arddy, 21, orally confessed ravishing and beating to death Dorothy Drain and severely injuring her 12-year-old sister, Barbara, after invading the girls' bedroom at Pueblo early the morning of Aug. 16.

Arddy, arrested yesterday in the railroad yards as a vagrant, remarked he was from Pueblo, Carroll said. Carroll, recalling the Drain case, said he questioned Arddy about his knowledge of the hatchet slaying. Arddy speedily confessed, Carroll asserted.

Pueblo police said Arddy escaped Aug. 8 from the state home for mental defectives at Grand Junction, Colo.

TO TAX OR NOT TO TAX—MARBLE MACHINES BAFFLE COUNCIL

AWAIT RULING ON STATUS OF GAMES

Rowland Says Court Test Necessary Before Levy Can Be Imposed

City councilmen are on the horns of a dilemma. The horns don't go "beep," either. They make a noise like a "marble machine" giving out tickets, which they do now and then.

While District Attorney W. F. Menton pored over legal tomes today, preparing an opinion on legality of the ingenious nickel-grabbers, four members of the city council confessed their hands were tied, for the present at least.

Mayor Explains

Are the machines legal? On that question hangs the future of promoters, the revenue of hundreds of storekeepers, and a possible cut in the city tax rate.

Mayor Fred Rowland explained about the dilemma.

"I have heard," he said "opinions by a number of city and district attorneys all over the state. They don't agree on the legality of the machines.

"If we should go ahead and tax them and a supreme court test resulted in a decision that they were illegal, we'd be in the position of condoning a crime.

Revenue Possible

"So we have to wait and find out definiteiy whether or not they are legal before we do anything toward taxing them."

On the basis of an estimated 500 nickle-eating contrivances in Santa Ana, the city might collect as much as $50,000 a year in taxes if the machines were licensed.

"If they are definitely legal," Rowland said, "there is no reason why the city shouldn't get some revenue."

Councilman E. H. Layton feels the same way—if the machines are legal. He's opposed to them in principle.

Favors Tax

"They impose a penalty on legitimate business," he said. "They take money from circulation in stores, and they're a bad thing generally. If they're illegal, a tax would just be admitting we can't control them. But if they're legal, I'm in favor of a tax. It would help regulate them, and it would cut taxes, thereby restoring some of the money they take from people's pockets."

Councilman Plummer Burns said he had been studying the situation and had several opinions—varying—on the subject. He also pointed out that the city would be in a dangerous position to license and tax the machines before their legality is determined.

Councilman Joe Smith said he had not heard any comment on the subject and would consider it when it was brought up. Councilman William Penn is away on a vacation.

City Attorney Lew Blodget has his own little dilemma. He hasn't been asked for a written opinion, although if he should be he said he would be "directed and guided" by Menton's expected thesis.

Sharps and Flats From The Political Bandwagon

ON WEST COAST

CHICAGO, (AP)—Campaign speaking plans for William Lemke, North Dakota congressman and Union party candidate for president, were revised to include a nine-day visit to the West coast in September. John Nystul, Lemke's campaign manager, said an "urgent demand" for the candidate's appearance in California, Washington, Oregon and Montana led to a re-arrangement of previous plans. The West coast tour will begin Sept. 10 and end Sept. 18, probably opening with a meeting in Los Angeles.

BROWDER CALLS LANDON FASCIST FIGUREHEAD

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Earl Browder, Communist candidate for president, has depicted Gov. Alf M. Landon as a "figurehead of an incipient Fascist movement in the United States. "That is why," he said at a luncheon of the National Press Club, "the Communist party sees as its main task in 1936 the defeat of Landon."

SET HEARINGS ON ZONING REQUESTS

Public hearings on the request of Panorama Heights, Lemon Heights and Hughes Park districts for inclusion as restricted residential areas in the master zoning district of Orange county will be on Sept. 10 and Sept. 29.

The board of supervisors yesterday instructed District Attorney W. F. Menton to proceed with publication of the notice of the hearing.

Request for including in the master zoning plan was made by the district some months ago, and has been under consideration by the planning commission since then.

The Sept. 10 hearing will be held at 7:30 p. m. in the Roosevelt school, El Modena. The Sept. 29 hearing will be at 10 a. m. in the offices of the planning commission, courthouse annex.

Refuse U. S. Entry To Communist

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States government has refused to permit William Gallacher, a Communist member of the British parliament, to enter this country.

This was confirmed at the state department today when the American Civil Liberties Union made public a protest over the refusal of the department to grant a temporary visa to Gallacher, who was said now to be traveling in Canada.

The action was taken, it was explained, under the American immigration act prohibiting entry of persons who are members of groups that have as their object the overthrow of organized governments by force and violence.

COMMITTEES NAMED BY VOTERS

No Contest, Republican Ticket; Democrats Pick Group of 22

Selected by members of their respective parties to be the official party heads during the presidential campaign, victorious central committeemen were revealed today in a tabulation by County Clerk J. M. Backs.

There were just enough Republican candidates to fill the positions open, so pending a checkup of write-in votes, the regular candidates were considered elected.

Democrats

Democratic committeemen, named in the election and listed in the order of the number of votes received are as follows:

First district: B. Z. McKinney, H. C. Head, Wendell W. Finley, Robert C. Mize and Robert Perry Davis.

Second: Roy F. Head, Sterling Price, William H. Bentley and D. W. "Boxie" Huston.

Third: Robbie Anderson, T. F. Shea, Verne Wilkenson, Dr. B. F. Badgley, Karl H. Brenner, Harry J. Starr and Leo J. Sheridan.

Fourth: Martell E. Thompson and O. M. Rodeick.

Fifth: Clyde M. Baxter, Charles W. TeWinkle, George E. Thompson and Henry W. Hall.

First district: John D. Ball, Rolla Hays jr., William Iverson, Arthur A. May, E. M. Sundquist.

Second district: Wellington De La Vergne, Richard Haster, T. B. Talbert.

Third district: John B. Horner, Howard B. Irwin, I. D. Jaynes, John Kellenberger jr., Theodore B. Kuchel, Ralph W. Maas, Ernest R. Walker.

Fourth district: John F. Allen, Clyde F. Newton, Ivan H. Swanger.

Fifth district: Leslie F. Kimmell, M. B. Wellington, Elmer B. Whitson.

BOARD VOTES OPPOSITION TO DAM

Order Injunction Action on Ground Project Will Flood Streets

The board of supervisors' militant two-man minority bloc staged another small uprising yesterday afternoon over the question of a proposed injunction suit by Orange county, but lost again, by a three to two vote.

Chairman John Mitchell led the insurgents this time, in a battle to keep the county from going to bat for property owners along Ekhoff and West Chapman streets near Orange, to prevent the construction of a dam which would, it is claimed, divert the natural flow of flood waters into the streets.

The dam is being built by L. H. Charbenneau across property facing Ekhoff street, despite warnings of state highway engineer S. V. Cortelyou that such a construction will be damaging to West Chapman street, a state highway.

The board agreed to instruct District Attorney W. F. Menton to take steps for the filing of an injunction suit against Charbenneau with the cooperation of property owners, represented by L. A. West, Santa Ana attorney, following a visit to the dam this afternoon.

Both Mitchell and N. E. West argued that such action should be taken by private interests entirely, West remarking that the board had no policy on such matters at this time, and he believed it would be setting a bad precedent in starting the suit.

Five Killed in Truck Accident

SHANGHAI, (AP)—Chengtu authorities executed two alleged ringleaders of Monday's rioting, Chinese reports said here today, while Japanese asserted the bodies of their two slain countrymen were found outside the city walls.

The Japanese said Chinese had rioted in Chengtu to prevent the reopening of a Japanese consulate there, killing the two Japanese and wounding others.

New Deal's Debt Staggers G. O. P.; Democrats Assert F. D. R. Saved Constitution

The Journal conducts this forum so that its readers may receive full and authoritative information upon the issues of the presidential campaign. Horace C. Head, chairman of the county Democratic campaign committee, and B. Z. McKinney are in charge of that party's contributions. Howard Irwin, head of the Republican county central committee, and Dr. W. E. Dixon are contributing their party's articles.—Editor's note.

BY THE REPUBLICANS

Yes, all Republican governors, and even Democratic governors in Kansas have balanced their budgets. Kansans are made up of frugal and thrifty people. No spendthrift could be elected chief executive of Kansas. Governor Landon claims no credit for having balanced the budget. He promised to save the people's taxes. President Roosevelt, also, promised to save the people's taxes if elected president.

Governor Landon in four years has reduced the taxes four different times. Governor Landon, who receives the insignificant sum of $5,000 a year, knowing that the poor people of Kansas were hard-pressed to even pay the tax on their homes, and that even the poorest pay a greater percentage than the rich, returns to the treasury 25 per cent of his yearly salary, or $1250. President Roosevelt, on the other hand, merely talks about the poor man. But what did he do about it?

He receives $75,000 salary, $25,000 traveling expenses, $50,350 contingent fund, $125,982 for office help and $143,098 for the executive mansion and grounds, making a grand total of $419,430 yearly.

National Debt

The seventy-fourth Congress just closed, saddled upon the taxpayers of this country the enormous total of twenty billion dollars. Yes, I said billions. Who can conceive what one billion is? It been said that if we begin at the birth of Christ and pay out a dollar every hour from that time until this we would still have $18,000 left. Mind you that the P. W. A. worker the mechanic, the farmer, the professional man, the laborer, the school teacher; in fact, every person in the United States will have to pay 62 per cent of this vast sum.

President Roosevelt has vetoed 222 laws, only exceeded by one president. And yet, President Roosevelt has never vetoed a general appropriation bill. President Roosevelt was born with a silver spoon in his mouth. I have never heard anyone claim that he has ever earned a dollar by the sweat of his brow. Governor Landon, on the other hand, worked side by side with the laboring man, sat down on a rock to eat his dinner. He knows what it is to pay taxes from the sweat of one's brow.

BY THE DEMOCRATS

The opposition is charging that President Roosevelt has violated the constitution. We say that he has saved the constitution. Had it not been for his courage and his action, the leadership which he has given, and which this country needs today, and will need during the next four years, our institutions and our form of government might have gone entirely, and no one knows what form of government we would be living under today.

Every great president has been accused of violating the constitution.

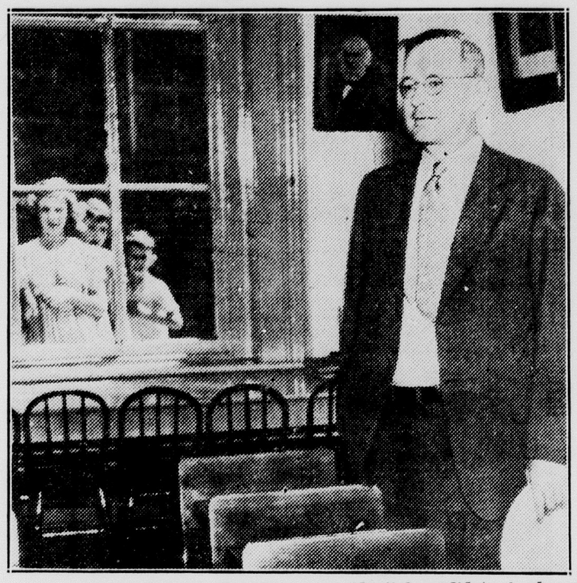

When Thomas Jefferson was president of the United States, France offered to sell the whole Mississippi valley, then known as Louisiana. Jefferson bought it for $15,000,000. His enemies bitterly criticised him for violating the constitution of the United States in purchasing this property, wasting money, and charged that this land was inhabited by nothing but wild animals and Indians. We guess today they are going to keep quiet about that act of Thomas Jefferson, because otherwise they would not have any Kansas to get a candidate from.

Broad Interpretation

Roosevelt has interpreted the constitution as a document to live under, not to starve under. One of the famous disputes in our legal history firds its record in volume 22 of the United States supreme court. The name of the case is Gibbons vs. Ogden. Chief Justice John Marshall wrote the opinion. As to whether or not the constitution should be narrowly or broadly interpreted, let us see his words, written in February, 1824—112 years ago. He said:

Powerful and ingenious minds, taking, as postulates, that the powers expressly granted to the government of the union, are to be contracted, by constitution, into the narrowest possible compass, and that the original powers of the states are retained, if any possible construction will retain them, may, by a course of well digested, but refined and metaphysical reasoning, founded on these premises explain away the constitution of our country, and leave it a magnificent structure, indeed, to look at, but totally unfit for use."

James Lampton of Silverado Was Mark Twain's Character, Dad Sellers

(Men are remembered after their death for their unselfish service to their fellow men. Robert Gardner of Orange has written a series of articles about pioneers of this section, which The Journal is publishing in order to preserve the memory and deeds of outstanding characters. Today's sketch tells about James Lampton.—Editor.)

Mark Twain loved humor. He brought to our sour environments real characters to cheer and amuse us. "The Gilded Age" is the story of "Dad Seller's" life.

Of course, Dad Sellers was not his real name. According to Twain's autobiography, the character's real name was James Lampton.

Twain wrote: "Many people regard 'Dad Sellers' as a fictional character, but that is not so. He was a real mining man with all the frontier glamour about him. The incidents in the play were incidents from my own life.

"The real Col. Sellers, as I knew him in James Lampton, was a pathetic and beautiful spirit, a manly man, a straight and honorable man, a man with a big, foolish, unselfish heart in his bosom, a man born to be loved, and he was loved by all his friends and by his family, worshiped."

You may wonder what such a man had to do with Orange county.

When the Silverado and Carbondale were boom towns and silver had the same glamorous appeal as gold, Dad Sellers came to Silverado to get rich. He thought he had found as rich a silver vein as the one in Virginia City, Nev.

Strange! He died before the vein ran out and Silverado became a ghost town. "James Lampton floated all his days in a tinted mist of magnificent dreams, and died at last without seeing one of them realized," Twain wrote.

Yes, he died up in the "boom town of Silverado, and somewhere up there is his grave."

His was the character that inspired humor that all Americans enjoy. Twain said himself that he had a personality that could not be imitated by the actor, John Raymond, who played in "The Gilded Age" in 1876.

A toast to the man who makes people happy!

Candlelight Reception Follows Pretty Wedding at St. Joseph's Rectory

Miss Irvin Is Pretty Bride

Becomes Bride of R. L. Cartwright in Quiet Service

Simplicity and charm marked the impressive nuptial ceremony performed last night in the rectory of St. Joseph's Catholic church, in which Miss Georgina Irvin, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Irvin of 1808 North Main street, became the bride of Raymond L. Cartwright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman S. Cartwright of 1423 Cypress street.

Baskets of white blossoms created a pretty background for the bridal pair, who were unattended, and formed a delightful contrast for the dark navy tailleur chosen by the bride for her wedding costume. She wore a white satin blouse with the suit, and her cloche hat and other smart accessories were all of a navy shade. A corsage of gardenias added a charming touch.

Families Attend

Present at the wedding ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Irvin, parents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright, the bridegroom's father and mother; Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Fry of Glendale, sister and brother-in-law of Mr. Cartwright, and another sister, Miss Hazel Cartwright, of this city.

Other members of the two families joined in the reception which followed at the Irvin home, which was bright with mixed garden flowers. A variety of colors were combined in all the rooms except the dining room, for which a dainty color motif of yellow and white was carried out.

Bride Cuts Cake

Yellow and white flowers centered the lace-covered table, set with silver coffee service and lighted with four tall white tapers. The feature of interest in the table appointments was a tiered white wedding cake, topped by a tiny bride and groom.

This was cut during the evening, after the bride had cut the first piece, and was served to the guests with ice cream and coffee.

Two aunts of the bride, Mrs. Frank Dauser of Fullerton and Mrs. Arthur Cannon of Orange, poured and served.

Honeymoon in North

The bride wore the same suit in which she was married when she departed with her new husband for a motor trip to San Francisco and vicinity, where they will spend about a week.

Their home on their return will be at 527 Lynwood avenue in this city.

Both Natives

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cartwright are natives of Santa Ana and attended the local schools, the latter continuing her education at the junior college after graduating from Santa Ana High school. She was affiliated with the Sisterhood of Spinsters on the college campus, and later became a member of Sigma Theta sorority, serving at one time as president and at the present time as vice president.

Mr. Cartwright was captain of the track team in high school here, and still holds the half mile record for California. He later attended the University of Southern California for three years, taking a prominent part in track events there also.

He is now a partner in the Weicher and Cartwright service station at First and French streets.

SUNDAY SCHOOL GROUPS GIVE SHOWER

Two classes of the Sunday school of the Orange Avenue Christian church joined last night in a kitchen shower for a member of the Co-ed class, Miss Juanita Patton, whose wedding with Harold Ames of San Bernardino is to be an event of September 5.

Hosts were members of the Upward and Onward class and the Co-ed group, about thirty participating in the pre-nuptial courtesy and presenting the bride-to-be with many lovely gifts for her kitchen.

The party took place at the church, following prayer meeting services, refreshments being served before the guest opened her gifts.

HOUSEWARMING IS SURPRISE

Mrs. Jennie Cully, who has moved recently from Tustin to a Santa Ana residence at 1009 West Walnut street, was honored at a surprise housewarming party last night by members of the Homesteaders lodge of this city.

The group brought not only ingredients for the lunch served after games of five hundred and screeno, but also a drip coffee pot for the guest-hostess.

Those participating in the surprise with Mrs. Cully were the Messrs. and Mesdames Finch, Frank Calkins, J. L. Crane, L. R. Harris, George Randle, P. A. Trickey, Q. E. Lord, Reg. Hartley; Mesdames C. A. Eldridge, E. J. Kastorff, Lydia Fipps, Laura Sanborn, Ida White, and Floyd Turner, Nellie Fickas, Nellie Ellingson, Kitty Lou Randle, Glenn Hurst, and Joe L. Headlee.

The best way to display the huge spikes of gladiolus is in a large container and in a roomy section of the house. It is seldom advisable to arrange flowers in a bowl or vase without first taking off all leaves which would be submerged in the water.

CLIPS RETURN WITH THE FALL

Clips add a colorful touch to some of the early fall frocks shown by American designers. A massive one of beaten silver and turquoises and a bracelet of the same design are worn with a simple frock of dull black crepe finished with shirrings caught into a high neckline. The high crowned hat with rolling brim dipping down like a visor in front is finished with a dull turquoise ribbon.

Mary Stoddard

How Can Aunt Curb Defiant Girl She Befriended, Yet Cannot Control?

By MARY STODDARD

Times, people, viewpoints change.

But the good, old fashioned rules by which conscientious parents attempt to rear their sons and daughters are as unchanging as the sun and the tides. Oh, I know in recent years there has been a lot of chatter about youth being individual and entitled to its personality, but oftentimes this propaganda is put out by the very clever young or someone who has never had the responsibility of rearing sons and daughters.

Today we present the serious problem of a mother who must call a spade a spade in the difficult situation she faces.

Dear Miss Stoddard: We have a young son, 17, splendid boy, steady—doesn't drink or smoke and is a good worker.

This spring I brought my brother's girl from a distant city into our home. She is 21. Her mother died some years ago and she has been allowed to do as she wished with the advice to use her own judgment.

She is a good girl, but will neck with anyone—seems to think the necking (as they call it) is quite the proper thing to do and allows our son all sorts of liberties.

He has always been quite bashful and never had any puppy love affairs like many of the boys of today. while my niece has had plenty of experience. She has been engaged three times and her last fellow had to marry a 16-year-old girl.

One evening last week the two, my son and niece, went to a show. They didn't get home until 4 a. m. I was frantic. The girl told this story.

Right at our very door at 1:30 in the morning they met a boy who was a stranger who had lost his way so they took him home.

After leaving their passenger they started back home and the car ran into the ditch and they had been trying all that time to get it out. She told a straightforward story, looked me right straight in the eye. I was quite severe with our son for being so foolish as to pick strangers up at that hour.

A few days later I found they had lied. Our son is sorry and seems to feel he has done wrong, but the young lady is quite injured and feels that I am most old-fashioned and don't understand the young people of today.

I asked her if she cared for our son and she does not. To her he is just another person to neck with. Is it any wonder boys do such queer things when the girls are so free and bold as they are today? Am I wrong? What would you do in my case?

JUST ANOTHER MOTHER.

Yes, you are wrong, dear mother, but not for the reason this saucy stripling girl gives.

You are wrong that you did not put a stop to this "necking" as soon as you discovered it was going on. You should have stressed the relationship of this girl as a first cousin of your son from the very beginning and put it on a brother and sister basis.

In the event you could not do that, you should have sent the young lady back to her father or made some similar arrangement.

You must bear in mind that she is four years your son's senior, has been permitted to associate with men of the "Tom, Dick and Harry" type, while your son has never even been interested in the opposite sex.

Naturally, her influence would be something to reckon with and she is the culprit rather than your son, who naturally would feel that because you had befriended the girl in your own home she must be all right.

Don't be too harsh with your son. Rather, attempt to explain these things to him in a kindly way.

Do not permit them to take the car again and if the up-start girl is still arrogant after you "lay the law down" to her as her own mother would, you must take immediate steps to remove her influence from your home.

More One Dish Meals

By JUDITH WILSON

These dishes, with a salad and a simple dessert, make a meal in themselves, each one furnishing enough variety in itself for a delicious dinner.

Frankfurter-Bean Casserole

Mix together 4 cups of home-baked or canned beans with ¼ cup of chili sauce, ¼ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 pimiento finely minced, ½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and ½ cup of tomato juice. Place half of this mixture in the bottom of a greased casserole. Split 8 frankfurters and arrange over this. Cover with the remaining bean mixture, sprinkle with ½ pound grated cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderately hot over about ½ hour. This makes four hearty servings.

Corn and Sausage Casserole

Fry ¾ pound sausage meat and drain off the fat. Season 2½ cups cooked or canned whole-kernel corn well with salt and pepper. Put half of the corn into a greased casserole, cover with the sausage and add the remaining corn. Add ½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Beat 2 eggs slightly and add to 1 cup of milk. Pour over the corn. Dot with butter and sprinkle with paprika. Bake in a moderate oven about 40 minutes and serve hot.

DE GLADE DAMER SPENDS DAY AT BAYSHORE

De Glade Damer and several friends spent a delightful afternoon Wednesday at Balboa Bay as guests of Mrs. O. J. Hawley, who, with her family, is spending ten days at the Magnolia apartments.

The hostess was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Anna G. Nelson, and her daughter, Miss Ruth Hawley, the three arranging an especially pleasant day for the club group.

Rugs, deck chairs and bright-colored umbrellas provided for the comfort of those who cared to lounge on the beach, and the delightful veranda was also turned over to the pleasure of the guests.

Some enjoyed swimming during the afternoon, while others visited on the beach or at the house, and in the late hours a buffet luncheon was served to the guests.

Present to enjoy the day with Mrs. Hawley, Mrs. Nelson and Miss Hawley and Donald Hawley, jr., were Mrs. Thomas Huffman and daughter, Mary Jane, and son, Thomas, jr., Mrs. Margaret Golden, Mrs. Richard Niedergal, Mrs. Herbert Thwaite and daughter, Barbara, Mrs. Charles Kyte, Mrs. Henry McComb, Mrs. W. D. Tibbs and son, Wayne, Mrs. William Gray and daughter, Betty Ruth, Mrs. William Waddell, Mrs. Alice McGill, Mrs. Marie Stanton Eyerly, Miss Betty Jean Reed, and Mrs. Kyte's sister from Webb City, Mo., Mrs. Ernest Hinshaw.

A guest of honor was beautiful little Betty Ruth Gray, seven-weeks-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gray of 1531 West Ninth street, Santa Ana, the latter a sister of the hostess.

INSURANCE GROUP HAS BEACH PICNIC

On a recent Saturday afternoon the Metropolitan Life Insurance company's Santa Ana staff and their families went down to San Clemente Beach club for a picnic luncheon which was served in the clubhouse roof garden. A. W. Robinson, local manager, aided in the plans.

In the afternoon, various forms of amusement drew the guests, some swimming and golfing and others playing cards. The bridge games resulted in Miss Myrna Ritchey tallying highest score for first prize and Mrs. Joy McNeill, low.

Guests in addition to the staff members were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sturgis and son.

COUSIN GOING TO FLORIDA TO TEACH

Miss Hazel Lewis, who has been spending the summer with her cousins, Mrs. Hazel Northcross and Miss Lena Thomas, coming out from New York, where she had been teaching in an orphanage, is leaving the end of this week for Palmetto, Fla., her former home. She has accepted a teaching position in a kindergarten in that town.

MISS HUMISTON, MISS DECKER AT ASILOMAR

Miss Genevieve Humiston, who has been spending the summer at her Laguna Beach cottage, has gone to Asilomar for a week, accompanied by Miss Dorothy Decker.

During her absence, her cottage is being occupied by Miss Alma Karlssen and Miss Damaris Beeman of 2120 North Ross street.

ORCHESTRA PLEASES IN CONCERT HERE

Opening with two movements from Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony," which they played with a great deal of finesse, members of the symphony orchestra which is being led by Leon Eckles in a series of concerts sponsored by the W. P. A. Federal Music project this month, presented a well-received program Tuesday night at Willard school auditorium.

Their second group included two shorter numbers, "Heart Wounds," by Grieg, and "Rustle of Spring," by Sinding, the latter especially pleasing; and the following two were compositions of a local musician, Earl Fraser, with the composer at the piano. These were "Danse Pastorale," for strings and woodwinds, well played, and "Fantasy for Piano and Strings."

The program concluded with a scherzo from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and two selections from Saint Saens' Algerian Suite."

This was the fourth of the series of concerts being given through the county, the final one scheduled for Friday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the Orange Women's clubhouse, with a similar program.

COSTUME, BOOK RECALL CIVIL WAR PERIOD

Bringing to her audience's eyes as well as ears the spirit of the Old South, Mrs. Edith Cloyes appeared in costume last night to review "Gone With the Wind" at the weekly public book review session last night at the Unitarian church.

Mrs. Cloyes wore a lavender and gray changeable silk dress with black lace mitts, demure white lace collar and a tiny bonnet of the Civil War period.

During an intermission in the review, Bruce Buel, Visel-Haughton studio pupil, sang several songs.

"In Dubious Battle," John Steinbeck's novel dealing with labor troubles in the San Joaquin valley, will be reviewed at 8 o'clock next Wednesday evening.

Mrs. L. L. Beeman will review the book. Steinbeck is also the author of "Tortilla Flats." William Beeman, son of the reviewer, is to play several piano selections.

IVERSONS HOME FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. William Iverson and daughters, Alice and Iris, of 710 South Ross street have returned from a five-week vacation trip, which took them over the Lincoln highway, through Zion National park, and up to Ripon, Wisc.

The trip was partly a business one for Mr. Iverson, who, however, took some time off for a fishing excursion in the middlewest, finding very poor luck in that region.

The return journey was made through South Dakota, where they visited relatives of Mrs. Iverson in Redfield.

BUSINESS CLUB MEETING NEXT MONDAY

Moving their meeting date ahead one week because of Labor Day, the Business and Professional Women's club will have its dinner meeting Monday evening, Aug. 31, at 6 o'clock at the Doris Kathryn.

An unusually interesting program is being planned, featuring a review by Mrs. Jennie Tessmann of the book, "Gone with the Wind."

The membership committee, composed of Harriet Whidden, Lulu B. Finley, Flora Clark, and Mildred Decker, are to be in charge.

JUNIOR Y. L. I. DANCE TONIGHT

Opening their fall social season with a sport dance, members and friends of the Junior Y. L. I. will assemble at 8 o'clock tonight in Knights of Columbus hall, with members of the senior group as guests and sponsors.

Regular meeting of Capistrano Y. L. I. is to be held at 8 o'clock in the hall. Following adjournment, members are to aid junior girls at their entertainment.

DAUGHTER VISITING

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Jackson of 520 East Chestnut street have as their house guest Mr. Jackson's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Love, and their two sons, Eldon Johnson and C. J. Love jr., who will remain for several weeks and visit places of interest in and about Orange county.

VISITING UNCLE

Miss Constance June Elliott, daughter of the Fred C. Elliotts of 2110 North Ross street, left Monday by train for Palo Alto, where she will visit her mother's brother, Richard T. LaPiere, who is an instructor at Stanford university.

Flower Show Sponsors List Classes and Rules

Aiming solely to present to the public examples of what Orange county, with its varied climate, can produce in the way of flowers and unusual fruits, the garden clubs of the county are rapidly completing plans for the 1936 fall flower show which will be staged September 12 and 13 in the Valencia ballroom, on 101 Highway, between Santa Ana and Anaheim.

Eyes of flower lovers in all parts of Southern California are focused upon this event, not only because of the many interesting and beautiful displays which it will afford, but because it is a unique experiment in flower shows, being conducted entirely, and without other support, by the garden groups of the county.

The show is not given for the benefit of any club or group of clubs, nor for any special locality, the sponsors state. It will demonstrate how the work and valuable activities being carried on by these garden groups of women are promoting interests of this nature.

The Rules

Rules of the show this year are as follows:

All exhibits must be in place by 10:30 on opening day.

All flowers, fruits and vegetables exhibited in competition must have been grown by the exhibitor, with exception of those used in group arrangements.

Exhibitors must furnish containers, which should be marked for identification.

Management will not be responsible for containers.

Exhibits can be entered in only one class.

Exhibits must be kept fresh or replaced until close of show.

Other Information

Ribbon awards are to be given in three best entries in each class, and a prize will be given in each section to entry of most merit. Prizes will be distributed Saturday evening at 8 o'clock.

Any meritorious exhibit not provided for in the specifications will receive suitable recognition.

Advice From Chairmen

In submitting the list of classifications for publication today, Mrs. J. E. Paul, chairman of the county garden clubs, has compiled the following additional information for entrants:

Please note that any meritorious entry, whether mentioned in the list or not, will receive attention.

Any amateur grower in the county, whether belonging to a club or not, may exhibit.

Please see that your container is marked; a strip of adhesive tape marked with your name, placed on the bottom of vase, bowl or basket, is an excellent method.

See that the stems and foliage of your entry, especially of roses, are clean and healthy.

Any flower or plant having a woody stem will keep better if the end of the stem is slightly bruised or split. This is especially true of roses.

Dahlias should have ends of stems burned, or placed in boiling water, followed by plunging in deep cold water.

"Foliage" indicates the leaves of the flower itself. Unless otherwise mentioned use no other.

"Greenery" indicates any foliage or filler.

Follow instructions carefully: If a certain color or number of blooms is required, use only that color and the number of blooms, neither more nor less.

Unless definite number is specified, a "display" may consist of one or more flowers.

If possible, know the correct name of your entry.

Receiving hours for entries will be from 7 to 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning, Sept. 12. Entries which will keep over, may be placed the day before.

Mrs. Bond Is Wednesday Hostess

Mrs. G. W. Bond entertained at a delightful dessert bridge luncheon Wednesday afternoon at her home at 507 East Myrtle street, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Caleb F. Jackson of Santa Ana, and their daughter and family, Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Love and sons, Eldon Johnson and C. J. Love, jr., of Lorraine, Okla., and also the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Rose Havely of this city.

The hostess served dainty ices, cake and coffee at small tables spread with dainty linens, with places laid for the following, in addition to the honored guests:

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jackson and the former's sister, Mrs. Alberta Husted, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wolfe and son, Jesse, and daughter, Lucille, Mrs. Edith Thatcher, Miss Mabel Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. Coats Leamer, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Foote, Mrs. Clarence Bond, daughter-in-law of the hostess, and the hostess.

During the afternoon, Miss Wolfe sang two delightful numbers, "Mighty Lak a Rose" and "Gypsy Trail," and the members enjoyed discussion of their various vacations. Miss Whiting, who has been working in the peace movement for young people in this part of the state, related some of her interesting experiences.

Musical numbers also included songs of China by Mrs. Husted, Mrs. Wolfe, Mrs. Thatcher, and Miss Whiting, all of whom have lived and taught in that country, their selections adding much to the delight of the occasion.

Effort Made To Rid Land Of Mosquito

By C. N. CHRISMAN, M.D.

The serious drouth which has existed over wide areas has accomplished one good. It has prevented the propagation of vast hoards of mosquitoes. The heavy spring rains in other sections have offset this good by furnishing stagnant pools and piles of wet vegetation to propagate vast hordes.

There are two distinct types of mosquitoes, one which adds greatly to our discomfort but does not carry contagion; the other just as annoying, carries contagion, and is the cause of a serious amount of sickness and death. His, or her rather, for the female is the culprit, bite may carry malaria from some one suffering from the disease.

Carry Many Diseases

Other types carry yellow fever, dengue or breakbone fever, and elephantiasis, which causes great enlargement of the extremities.

A mosquito cannot travel far under his own power unless carried by the wind.

Recent experiments have proved that he is willing to accept transportation by any means, airplanes, automobiles, freight cars or your own luggage are all acceptable to him.

As malaria and yellow fever are always present in South America and South Africa it is plain to see that they can always be expected to crop out in our country.

Spray Airplanes

The public health service recognized the danger and promptly began experiments to overcome it. The result was a powerful non-inflammable spray for use in airplanes. It consists of flowers of pyrethrum mixed with light oils. Planes are sprayed with this preparation at each post and on entry into this country are examined to find if any mosquitoes have survived. Inspectors report a minimum of one mosquito for each 10 panes arriving from foreign parts, which is promptly destroyed.

The rather fantastic procedure of painting mosquitoes has been each 10 planes arriving from formine where mosquitoes come from and to what places they migrate. The government is spending millions to eradicate the mosquitoes by digging ditches and dredging low grounds to eliminate their breeding grounds of stagnant water.

Don't Let Shyness Spoil Your Fun

"What's the use!" sighs Babs, dejectedly packing for her vacation. "Going away to meet new people—and I'll be just as shy and alone as ever."

Brace up, Babs! Make the most of your introductions to new people. Even if they don't look interesting, draw them out. They may turn out to be real companions after all. And through them, you're bound to meet other people.

Don't forget, other vacationers came to see new faces. They'll welcome your efforts toward friendship. Join in the games. Maybe you can't play well. What of it? Your new acquaintances will admire your spirit.

You can cure bashfulness and inferiority complexes. Start now, with the help of our 32-page booklet. A famous psychologist points the way to poise and assurance. Get rid of self-consciousness, jealousy or stubbornness, too.

Send 10c for your copy of Overcoming Self-Consciousness and Other Inferiority Complexes to The Journal, Home Service, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Calif. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

Lemon Good For Bleach

By JACQUELINE HUNT

Today's beauty treatment is for shoulders and necks that still show traces of your summer's suntan. Creams and tonics are important in today's softening — bleaching treatment so you should choose the kind indicated by the condition of your skin.

If your skin is dry and flaky, the cream should be rich in lubricating oils. But if the skin is good and the neck and shoulders are of ample proportions, the creams should contain astringent or corrective properties and you should use a brisker toning lotion.

Lemon cream is slightly bleaching and can be used in today's treatment. But equal parts of strained lemon juice and peroxide patted on the skin after a thorough cleansing gives quicker results.

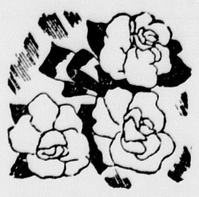

Use a liberal application of cleansing cream over the chest, neck and shoulders to start with. Wipe off as much of the soiled cream as possible with cleansing tissues, then wash with a cloth wrung out of hot water. Now use a richer cream and apply it liberally.

With the skin well coated with cream, place the palm of the hand low on the chest and massage upward to the chin. Next starting well back on the shoulder blades, massage upward, over the neck to the hair line. Finally with the palm of the hand cupped over the outer side of the arm, massage upward over the shoulders and along the heavy muscle that lies on top. Spend about five minutes at the massage.

Apply a little more cream if necessary, then use a complexion brush and go over these areas again and with little circular motions over the arms and shoulders and long sweeping strokes for the chest and neck. When the skin is pink and feels refreshed you have done your work.

Wash away the unabsorbed cream with very warm water and a little soap if necessary. Rinse and use a good skin tonic or a simple homemade lotion of rose water, boric acid solution and witch hazel. A skin that is inclined to be quite oily should be patted with an astringent.

HOOVER P.-T. A. OUTLINES PROGRAM

"The Home, the Index to National Life" is the theme chosen by Hoover Parent-Teacher association for its programs for the year as outlined yesterday at a meeting of the program committee at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Allison Honer.

Meeting with Mrs. Honer were Miss Isabel Lindsay, school principal; Mrs. E. D. Froeschle, president of the association, and Mrs. H. G. Huffman. Mrs. Honer gave the meeting a delightful conclusion with the serving of dainty refreshments.

To launch the activities of the unit, Mrs. Froeschle has called a meeting of the executive board for September 10, at 2 p. m., at her home, 2403 Santiago; and the meetings of the group will start on the evening of Oct. 2 with a reception and pot-luck dinner at the school, honoring the teachers.

Mrs. Froeschle's officers are Mrs. J. L. Maroon, vice president; Mrs. Rolla Hays, jr., secretary; Mrs. F. A. Burkett, treasurer; Mrs. J. J. Vernon, historian.

Her appointments to date include Mrs. Honer, program chairman; Mrs. H. J. Howard, finance and budget; Mrs. John Ball, hospitality; Mrs. Otto Schroeder, membership; Mrs. J. A. Randall, magazines; Mrs. R. D. Smiley, welfare; Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, summer roundup, and Mrs. Maroon, publicity.

JAYSEE GROUP STILL TO ELECT

Junior College Parent-Teacher unit, because of its "fluctuating population," will not elect officers until its first meeting of the new year, Mrs. Neal Beisel, last year's head, continuing at the helm until the election.

Parent-Teacher Council Plans Meeting

Session Is Scheduled Tuesday

Program Outlines of Local Associations Due That Day

With the final date for submission of programs outlined by the local units falling on the same day, the official 1936-37 season of Santa Ana Parent-Teacher associtations will be ushered in next Tuesday morning at the meeting of Santa Ana Parent-Teacher council, at 9:30 o'clock, in the board room of the Board of Education building, 1012 North Main street.

Mrs. Mills to Preside

All of the fifteen associations are expected to turn in their programs for the year at that meeting, according to Mrs. John J. Mills, council president, who will preside.

Part of the morning's discussion will center around information regarding the movement on foot to repeal the sales tax, to be relayed by the presidents to their respective organizations, and plans will also be discussed for the local membership drive, which will be opened the first week in October. The goal this year is to top the 1500 mark, membership last year reaching 1419, according to reports given at the recent school of instruction.

Unit Heads Expected

Presidents of all the local Parent-Teacher groups are expected to attend the Tuesday meeting, together with the elective officers of the council.

Regular meetings of the council are held the first Tuesday morning of each month, from 9:30 to 11 o'clock, giving opportunity for the 15 local presidents to bring their mutual problems together for discussion.

LATHROP UNIT PLANS PARTY FOR TEACHERS

Teachers of Lathrop Junior High school are to be honored guests at the reception planned by the parent-teacher unit of the school for Friday evening, Sept. 25, at the school, according to plans announced this week by Mrs. Rufus Bond, the president.

Details of the social evening are to be worked out at an executive board meeting called by Mrs. Bond at her home on the afternoon of September 3. Regular meetings of the group, starting in October, will be held on the fourth Tuesday of the month.

Officers chosen to serve this year with Mrs. Bond are Mrs. Forrest Menzie, first vice president; Mrs. James Givens, second vice president; Mrs. E. E. Frisby, secretary; Mrs. Grace Wolff, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Metz, treasure; Mrs. Musick, parliamentarian, and Mrs. Leonard Hamaker, historian.

Appointments made so far by Mrs. Bond include:

Mrs. T. E. Lord, publicity chairman; Mrs. J. P. Wallace, program chairman; Mrs. Ernest Ashland, social chairman; Mrs. Musick, chairman of room mothers; Mrs. Given, membership chairman; Mrs. Menzie, hospitality chairman.

LOWELL UNIT CHOOSES THEME FOR PROGRAMS

"The Relation of the Home to Character Development" is to be the theme behind this year's interesting programs planned by Lowell Parent-Teacher association of which Mrs. Richard Luers is the new president. Miss Mildred Mead, program chairman, has already completed the outline which will be submitted to Santa Ana Council next Tuesday.

Other committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. Luers are Mrs. Dale Griggs, publicity; Mrs. R. L. Price, hospitality; Mrs. Harry Lebard, budget and finance; Mrs. E. H. Leue, publications and magazines; Mrs. V. C. Shidler, parent education; Mrs. Ralph Davis, Founder's Day; Mrs. William E. Porter, summer roundup; Miss Mildred Mead, membership.

The first meeting of the new year will be an afternoon reception for the teachers on Tuesday, Oct. 20, according to Mrs. Luers; and she has called an executive board meeting for Wednesday morning, Oct. 14, in the teachers' room at the school.

MRS. HIRD HEADS FRANKLIN

Franklin Parent-Teacher association will have its same president back again this year, Mrs. James Hird being re-elected for the second term as head of the unit.

Other officers are Mrs. Noah Wilson, vice president; Mrs. Jack Munson, secretary; Mrs. T. Crosseley, treasurer, and Miss Hazel McFarland, historian. Appointments will be announced later.

LINCOLN HEADED BY MRS. WELSH

Announcement will be made soon of the chairmen appointed by Mrs. G. E. Welsh for Lincoln Parent-Teacher association, and program plans are underway for the new year.

Serving with Mrs. G. E. Welsh, who succeeds Mrs. Ben Beasley, are Mrs. Jack Snow, vice president; Mrs. C. H. Yance, treasurer, and Miss Doris Schenck, secretary.

Head Parent-Teacher Work

Mrs. John J. Mills, left, is serving a second term as president of Santa Ana Parent-Teacher Council, comprising the 15 Parent-Teacher units of the city. She will preside over a council meeting next Tuesday morning at the Board of Education building.

Mrs. H. C. Drown, right, newly elected president of the Fourth District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, is a resident of Santa Ana. Accompanied by two state chairmen from this county, she leaves early next week for the state board of managers meeting in Oakland.

THEME CHOSEN BY M'KINLEY GROUP

All ready for the new year, even to selection of the theme, is the McKinley Parent-Teacher association, whose programs this year will revolve around the idea of "Character Education, a Home and School Responsibility."

Believing that as many members as possible should be given definite work to do, and none given enough work to keep them too much out of their homes, Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, the capable new president, has made a long list of appointments to assist her officers in the work of the unit.

Her official family, installed last May, include Mrs. John State, first vice president; Mrs. Norman Franklin, second vice president; Mrs. Katherine Blank, recording secretary; Mrs. J. A. Gajeski, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Elmer Christenson, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Stark, auditor.

Appointments include Mrs. Alfred Knight, chairman of publicity and historian; Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, parliamentarian; Mrs. Cecil Wilson, magazines and emblems; Mrs. Paul Webb, music and spiritual; Mrs. Charles Clark, budget and finance; Mrs. Albert Bradley, hospitality; Mrs. Sheldon Russell, art; Mrs. Henry Delgado, motion pictures and radio; Mrs. Albert Garthe, summer roundup, and Mrs. Dale Elliott, program.

The first meeting will be late in September, according to plans, and the board meeting will be held during the first week of school.

SPURGEON MUST CHOOSE NEW PRESIDENT

One of the first duties of the new executive board of Spurgeon Parent-Teacher Association will be to choose a new president to fill the vacancy being occasioned by resignation of Mrs. O. Z. Robertson, who was elected in the spring.

Moving some time next month to Balboa island, where Mr. Robertson has taken over a store, Mrs. Robertson has had to give up the office of head of Spurgeon unit, almost before her work had started, although during the vacation weeks she has found time to make appointments of some of the chairmen for the new year.

These include Mrs. G. E. Lusk, budget and finance; Mrs. L. Williams, publications and music; Mrs. Jasper Farney, summer roundup and adult education; Mrs. McVay, program; Mrs. Maude Hanson, hospitality; Walter Egger, principal of the school, welfare chairman; Mrs. Haines Ainsworth, historian; and Mrs. R. H. Broese, membership.

Spurgeon unit must also elect a new vice president to replace Dr. L. W. Sherrard, its vice president-elect, who is moving into another district.

Other officers of this group are Mrs. J. F. Richards, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Arterburn, treasurer; Mrs. R. E. Steinberger, auditor; Mrs. Jack Bascom, parliamentarian; and Mrs. P. V. Eby, corresponding secretary.

WILSON BOARD WILL MEET SEPTEMBER 10

Wilson Parent-Teacher association will launch its year's plans on September 10, when Mrs. Fred Thompson, the president, has called a meeting of her executive board at 2 p. m. at her home, 1120 North Olive street.

Officers of this unit are Mrs. Thompson, president; Mrs. Don Hillyard, vice president; Mrs. Harry Becker, secretary; Mrs. Carl Edgar, treasurer; Mrs. C. O. Cole, parliamentarian, and Miss Bonnie Kiser, historian.

DOCTOR HEAD OF JEFFERSON

Jefferson Parent-Teacher association has a professional person at its head this year, in the person of Dr. Stella Davis, who was elected president in the spring balloting.

Others on her staff are Mrs. Edward Lee Russell, vice president; Mrs. Clyde Downing, secretary; Mrs. C. H. Hoiles, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Fitz, historian.

MORE DISTRICT APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED

Before departing for Oakland and the meeting of the state board of managers, which she will attend, Mrs. H. C. Drown, Fourth District president, announced the following additional appointments to add to the list of district chairmen and standing committees issued last week:

Mrs. John Brenat, Laguna Beach, school education chairman.

Miss Ida Bell Durgan, Orange, health, with Mrs. J. A. Blackwell of Diamond, Mrs. Sinclair Brown of Fullerton, Mrs. Ellen Smith of Tustin, Mrs. Newell Moore of Santa Ana, and Mrs. W. T. Kirven of Garden Grove, on the standing committee.

Mrs. Earl Smith of Orange, membership chairman, with Mrs. E. W. Gaddis of Anaheim, Mrs. Henry Joost of Orange, Mrs. F. H. Mitchell of Santa Ana, and Mrs. William Holbrook of Fullerton on the committee.

Additional members for the student loan committee, headed by Miss E. Kate Rea of Anaheim, Mrs. Earl Morris, Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, Mrs. Neal Beisel, of Santa Ana, Mrs. William Kelsey of Garden Grove, and Mrs. G. N. Greer of Westminster.

Mrs. James Hird of Santa Ana, chairman of negro work, with Mrs. Paul Vissman, Mrs. J. P. Wallace, and Mrs. LeRoy Burks of Santa Ana and Mrs. Goodwin of Fullerton on the committee.

Mrs. Marie Hoague of Garden Grove, added to the standing committee Mexican work, headed by Mrs. Donald Jordan of Garden Grove.

WILLARD UNIT PRESIDENT NAMES HEADS

"Modern Youth and Its Everyday Problems" will dominate the coming year's program for Willard Junior High School Parent-Teacher association, according to announcement made this week by Mrs. George Calhoun, the new president.

Plans for the opening meeting were discussed last night at an executive board meeting in the home of Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, 1416 Louise street.

Members of this year's officer group are Mrs. Calhoun, president; Mrs. R. L. Hedley, vice president; Mrs. F. H. Mitchell, second vice president; Mrs. D. G. Tidball, secretary; Mrs George Krock, parliamentarian; Miss Mary Jane Steel, historian; and Mrs. I. R. Hendrie, treasurer.

Appointments announced this week by the president include Mrs. John A. Henderson, magazine and emblems; Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, membership; Mrs. W. D. Ball, program; Mrs. C. R. Edgar, hospitality; Mrs. A. A. Klatt, finance and budget; Mrs. R. C. Mixer, publicity; Lyle Anderson, welfare; Mrs. R. L. Hedley, motion pictures.

ROOSEVELT HEAD RETURNS HOME

Back just this week from a vacation and a good rest at Lido Isle, Mrs. Harry Fink, president of Roosevelt Parent-Teacher association, has started appointments of chairmen, full list of which will soon be ready for announcement.

Other officers of this unit are Mrs. R. O. Metz, first vice president; Mrs. Steinberger, second vice president; Mrs. Barton, treasurer; Mrs. R. J. Howland, secretary; Mrs. R. L. Brown, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Lynn H. Crawford, parliamentarian.

JOHN MUIR IN OCTOBER

Although their year will not officially start until their meeting on the third Tuesday in October, officers of John Muir Parent-Teacher association are busy now making appointments to the various committee groups and outlining their programs for the year.

Mrs. S. C. Sutton is president of this unit, with Mrs. C. S. Warner as first vice president; Mrs. M. Daley, second vice president; Mrs. Mary Cole, recording secretary, and Mrs. Arnold Jones, treasurer.

State Board To Meet Monday

Mrs. H. C. Drown of Santa Ana, president of the Fourth District of California Congress of Parents and Teachers, and Mrs. W. T. Kirven of Garden Grove and Mrs. R. W. Marvin of Anaheim, both state chairmen, will be in attendance when the state board of managers convenes next Monday in Oakland.

Sessions, which will continue through Sept. 3, will be presided over by Mrs. B. C. Clark of Sutter Creek, new State Congress president, and will be held in the Hotel Oakland.

A feature of the meeting is to be an informal dinner Tuesday at 6:30 p. m.

Conferences Thursday

On Thursday, state conferences will be held, including membership, publicity, program planning, parent education, magazines and home making.

Seventy-six state officers and chairmen are expected to attend the meeting coming from all parts of the state of California.

Orange county has two of the state chairmanships this year, Mrs. Kirven heading the department of child hygiene and physical education, and Mrs. Marvin the state radio division.

Aides Named

Mrs. Clark has recently completed executive appointments for the permanent headquarters of the state organization at 202 Bryte Building, 1006 Seventh street, Sacramento, naming Miss Edith M. Coffin as new secretary to supervise office activities.

Mrs. G. Leslie Davis is the new state press chairman, and is busy now organizing her work so that news will flow continuously from the Sacramento offices.

On State Board

State officers serving this year with Mrs. Clark are Mrs. James K. Lytle, Los Angeles, first vice president; Mrs. George H. Schuyler, Pacific Grove, second vice president; Mrs. O. H. Spradling, Glendale, third vice president; Mrs. P. D. Bevil, 2800 Castro Way, Sacramento, fourth vice president; Mrs. E. K. Strong, Stanford university, fifth vice president; Mrs. E. I. Bartlett, South San Francisco, sixth vice president; Mrs. H. Ward Campbell, 387 Greenwood avenue, Oakland, seventh vice president.

Mrs. Robert A. Hill, Empire, recording secretary; Mrs, Walter A. Knapp, Merced, corresponding secretary; Mrs. L. S. Rounsavalle, Los Angeles, treasurer; Mrs. Calvin McCray, Santa Barbara, historian-statistician; Mrs. J. Stuart Moore, Stockton, parliamentarian.

State Advisors

On the advisory board of the State Parent-Teacher Congress are Dr. Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction; Mrs. Irene Heineman, assistant state superintendent; Dr. Ellen Stadtmuller, state department of health; Miss Mabel Gillis, state librarian; Dr. Walter Bachrodt, superintendent of schools in San Jose; Dr. Gertrude Laws, state department of education; Miss Lillian B. Hill, state department of education; Dr. Lillian Bailey, department of education.

Joseph Nolan, president of the state chamber of commerce, San Francisco; Ray Ingels, chairman of the California traffic safety advisory committee; Willsie Martin, religious leader; George Hjelte, superintendent of playgrounds and recreation, Los Angeles; Dr. Edward M. Pallette, president of the California State Medical association; Mrs. Emory Bogardus, Los Angeles, and John Saxon, president of the California Teachers' association.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAM GROUP MEETING TODAY

Program plans for Santa Ana High School Parent-Teacher association, headed again this year by Mrs. E. H. Elsner, who was re-elected after one successful term in the office, were being made this afternoon at a meeting in the office of the principal, Lynn H. Crawford.

Mr. Crawford is to be program chairman this year, and the theme and full outline were to be chosen at the meeting today. Plans for the first meeting will also be announced soon, according to Mrs. Elsner.

Officers of the unit this year, in addition to Mrs. Elsner, are Mrs. Hugh Hougham, first vice president; Mrs. Ernest Layton, second vice president; Miss Helen Kirkland, secretary, and Milton V. Newcomer, treasurer.

EDISON GROUP LINING UP COMMITTEES

Headed by Mrs. H. A. Moomaw, their president, officers of Edison Parent-Teacher unit are busy now completing the lineup of chairmen and committees, and also working on the program outline which will be ready for the September 1 council meeting.

The official family of this unit, in addition to Mrs. Moomaw, is as follows:

Mrs. O. C. Phillips, first vice president; Mrs. Laverne Gulley, second vice president; Miss Dorothy Jessee, recording secretary; Mrs. Kenneth Green, treasurer; Mrs. L. F. Davis, parliamentarian, and Mrs. R. A. McMahon, historian.

Grain Market

CHICAGO. (AP)—Wheat price fluctuations today were confined to a range of 1¾ cents, with the market winding up at a net fractional advance for the session. Corn, on the other hand, was independently weak, September declining 1⅝ cents at times.

Rumors that the minimum price guaranteed Canadian wheat producers by the dominion government might be raised strengthened wheat prices in domestic markets and at Winnipeg. Minneapolis and Winnipeg wheat showed more strength than was displayed here, scoring net gains of about 1⅛ cents at times.

Wheat closed ½-¾ cents higher than yesterday's finish, September $1.11⅞-12; December, $1.10⅝-⅞ and coru was ¾-1⅝ lower; September, $1.10½-⅝; December, 95½-¾. Oats closed ⅛ off to ⅛ up; rye, ⅝-1⅛ higher and barley one up. Provisions lost 8 to 10 cents. Prices follow:

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—A recovery wave today swept stock market prices up fractions to 5 or more points. One or two issues got up around 10.

Stimulated by generally favorable business and industrial news, steels, rails, motors and specialties were the star performers. There was late profit-taking, but this was absorbed in the majority of cases without much difficulty. The close was strong. Transfers approximated 1,250,000 shares. Prices follow:

Landon on Teachers' Oaths

IN PLEASING contrast to platitudes comes Governor Landon's double-barreled discharge at Chautauqua, New York:

"We insist that no teacher should be required to take any oath not required of all other citizens.

"Letting every man have his say is the constitutional method of solving our problems. Why should we make teaching into a suspect profession, by making our teachers take a special oath?

"I believe that a teacher has a right to the same freedom of speech in expressing his political, social or religious convictions as any other citizen. And I believe that a teacher has the same right to work for the accomplishment of his political and social ideas as any other citizen.

"In some instances the arguments and conclusions advanced by our institutions of learning have jarred the viewpoints of those who are unable to see the necessity for change. But many examples could be cited of progressive policies in government and business which have had their origin in our educational institutions.

"Education can usually be counted upon to encourage change when change means progress.

"The right of free inquiry is one of the essentials of free government. It is the very bedrock of democracy.

"Only through ignorance or bigotry can we be destroyed."

This is a direct slap in the face of William Randolph Hearst and others who have been conducting teacher hunts from campus to campus.

We trust that Governor Landon, between now and November, will deal with other national problems just as frankly and clearly as he has done this one.

Informed of Papa and Mama Dionne's new business venture, Dr. Dafoe agreed it was a good idea. "It will give them both something to do," said the doctor, "besides getting into trouble." Explain yourself, Doc.

Watch the Youngsters

WHILE America talks and groans about national debt, politics, the war situation in Spain and the high price of food, Junior America is preparing to return to school or college.

Survey these youngsters as their parents prepare them for the annual return to the academic gates. You'll find that there is no hint of the woe-begone in their make-up.

The next time someone tells you the country is going to the dogs, introduce him to a seven-year-old boy.

Ask him if the youngster looks and acts much differently than the seven-year-old of yesteryear.

True, today's youngster talks of airplanes and radios—subjects of which we never dreamed. But the outlook seems to be about the same. Our ambition was to drive a fire truck. Theirs is concerned with an airplane that flits through the clouds with the greatest of ease.

But, more important—the child seems to show no affect of the alleged path towards the bow-bow region.

Your pessimistic friend will growl and say that a grimy-faced youngster has nothing to do with the future of the universe.

Answer him thusly:

"You're wrong, my friend. When all is said and done, this boy and millions like him will be The World tomorrow. He and others will find happiness despite your grumbling."

And if that doesn't work, send your friend to a physician. It's probably his liver.

It's too bad old John L. Sullivan is dead. If he were living, some prize fight promoter would match him with Joe Louis.

The Townsend Vote

THE Townsend movement shows its strength in California by nominating 11 congressmen in 20 districts at the primary election. Here, in the third district, the Townsend candidate, Harry Sheppard, took the Democratic nomination by an overwhelming vote. Mr. Sheppard was running on a 100 per cent Townsend platform.

In this congressional district—composed of Orange, San Bernardino and Riverside counties—the Townsend standard-bearer annexed nearly 19,000 votes as compared to the more than 22,000 ballots of his combined opponents on the Democratic ticket. The turnout indicates, no doubt, the voting strength of the OARP in this district.

Everything didn't go for the pension plan candidates, of course. The fact that 11 out of 20 won means also that nine out of 20 lost. Nor did the total vote measure up anywhere near the strength predicted by E. J. Margett, state Townsend manager, who stated 750,000 club members would march to the polls. The latest check shows that approximately 290,000 Townsendites marked ballots Tuesday as compared to 350,000 for their opponents on the same tickets.

The election results indicate, however, that the OARP is solidly organized as a voting bloc and will be an important factor in the November election.

Every man who daily spanks the typewriter in hopes of suffusing "the literary glow" doffs his dicer to the prodigious efforts of E. Phillips Oppenheim. At 70, he is still delivering the exciting stuff that most of us take to bed on a rainy night with a purr of content.

Not only has he completed his 50th year writing, but has finished his 100th novel. And again reveals himself the tycoon of thrills, the pontiff of plots. There are arty little nobodies who sneer Oppenheim is only a dependable hack. Then write their own books that will not sell.

"Oppie" is, indeed, a figure out of his glamorous chapters. A monoclist who loves to edge the Casino gambling tables, has a luxurious yacht always at anchor near his Riviera chateau that overlooks a sweep of the Mediterranean. And dictates his tales in a studio of all glass.

He dresses nightly, knows his carte du vin and Theodor, his friend in New York, brackets him with three of the top rung gourmets. Oppenheim was married to Elsie Hopkins, of Chelsea, Mass., and they usually return to America every few years, being en route at the moment.

My favorite drummer boy, Jack Powell, has been artistically rewarded for taking the drum out of the orchestra and making his solos so rhythmic no foot can keep from twitching. He is appearing as a tympanist in municipal opera in St. Louis along with world famous divas. Jack doesn't really need a drum. In fact, he more often than not leaves it to wander willy-nilly and harum-scarum about the stage rat-a-tat-tating on anything handy—chairs, tables, footlights or what not and, all the while, making music that tingles.

Observation: Harris Merton Lyon once wrote that New York was just a compact collection of country towns as pliable and villagey as the cross roads. For several weeks this summer we have stopped at 5 o'clock at a corner drug store on Broadway in the 70's for a favorite libation—lemon phosphate. I began to notice the same people doing the same thing at the same hour, just as they do in your town and mine. The spinster walking her dog. The white mustached fellow who stops to gossip with the tobacco shop man. The twins who wait at the curb for father's bus. And so on. In less than a month I had a bowing acquaintance with most of the corner. Outyonderish and folksy, two blocks from the swarm of a city's slum!

John D. Rockefeller, jr., has the least affectation of any nabob of his era. He is strictly Gay '90, wearing the full crowned derby of that period and the trousers with the 19-inch bottom. There is no snugness about the fit of his clothes and his collars are of outmoded vintage as viewed through the modern eye. He has a neatness always noticeable. And dignity plus.

There is in New York, too, what is called the Brooks Brothers type of dresser in contrast to the Grover Whalens and the Goadby Loews. The Brooks boys are the neatly dressed who make no concessions to fashion's furbelows. The clothes fit well but a trifle loosely, of sedate cloth. Such men are consistently substantial. Men such as Owen D. Young, Gerald Swoop, Messmore Kendall and Charles M. Schwab.

Bright Moments

Before Abraham Lincoln had been elected to the presidency, his advice as an attorney was often sought by his friends of the bar. One day an old gentleman, Squire Bagley, entered Lincoln's office, and said: "Lincoln, I want your advice as a lawyer. Has a man what's been elected justice of the peace a right to issue marriage licenses? Lincoln told him that a squire did not have that right. The old squire became highly incensed, and leaning back in his chair said: "Lincoln, I thought you were a lawyer. Now, Bob Thomas and me has bet on this thing, and we agreed to let you decide, but if this is your opinion, I don't want it, for I know a thunderin' sight better, for I been squire now eight years and I've done it all the time."

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

ABOARD LANDON CAMPAIGN SPECIAL.—Two things stand out about Gov. Alf Landon's campaign special:

1. The lack of noise and commotion.

2. The absence of women in his party.

The first is of real significance. The second is largely accidental. The Republican presidential nominee is not an anti-feminist. He has women assistants in his office in Topeka.

The quiet orderly efficiency of the Landon train is the reflection of a basic characteristic of the man.

It is also, indicentally, in marked contrast to the confusion and air of tension and excitement that usually prevail on presidential campaign specials.

The governor dislikes turmoil and uproar. He likes to work in an atmosphere of calm and order.

He is not of an excitable temperament. He never gets ruffled—Landon is always poised and collected. This does not mean, however, that he is not capable of explosions. The governor can get angry in a very searing manner.

* * *

FRIENDLY, LEISURELY PERSON

But basically, he is not the explosive type. He works, plays and talks in a quiet, friendly and leisurely manner.

The scores of party leaders and other guests who accompany the train from state to state are made to feel at ease in a hospitable and homey manner.

Nobody is left alone or permitted to feel slighted. Every guest gets a chance to meet Landon personally and to talk to him for a few moments. The governor does not hold "court" in his private car. He moves through the train, chatting and extending greetings.

He does this without slopping over. Landon is not a back-slapper or baby-kisser. He has a warm, friendly, informal nature, but there is nothing artificial or jazzy about his public manner. Privately or publicly he is the same—quiet, poised, dignified, without being aloof or cold.

People take to Alf Landon instantly in personal contact. There is no "side" to the man.

The candidate is making a big hit with the hundreds of local and state leaders he is meeting on his trip. There is no question that he is going over big with the men and women who come into personal contact with him.

In his back-platform appearances he is not as effective as he might be and obviously needs more experience at this type of campaigning. Doubtless he will show greater facility on his next trip, as he has displayed marked improvement in delivery in his last two speeches over the radio.

* * *

HESITANT IN SPEAKING

Landon does well in the informal part of the back-platform appearances. His attractive, boyish smile and easy, friendly manner make an excellent impression. But in his brief talks he does not seem to go over.

The governor appears hesitant and not quite sure of what he wants to say.

These talks are only a few minutes' duration and are prepared in advance. Landon does not read them, however, as he does his major addresses. He delivers them extemporaneously and apparently has difficulty memorizing them, as his delivery is frequently faltering.

The internal organization of the special train is ably staffed and well managed.

Assisting Landon in greeting and contacting accompanying local leaders are three experienced and talented Kansas politicians, who are old friends of the candidate. They are Lacey Haynes, Kansas correspondent of The Kansas City, Mo., Star; Lester McCoy, Garden City, an automobile dealer and prominent party leader in the western part of the state; and John Paul Jones, publisher of The Lyons Daily, the only Democratic paper in the state.

E. Ross Bartley, who was secretary to former Vice-President Charles G. Dawes and who handled the publicity of the Chicago World's Fair in 1933-35, is in charge of press relations and is doing an efficient and workmanlike job.

Mimeographing equipment and personnel are carried on the train and the accompanying reporters are given a stenographic report of everything Landon says within a few minutes after he has finished.

To advise on congressional candidates and to contact these men during their visits on the train, Landon has Cleveland Newtown, of St. Louis, assisting him. Newtown is a former Republican member of the house. Landon is treading a wary path to avoid getting involved in local political tangles—always a dangerous spot for a national candidate.

* * *

AVOIDS LOCAL ISSUES

Wherever the situation permits and his group of intimate advisers recommend his doing so, Landon says a few words in behalf of a Republican candidate. But where the situation is dynamite-loaded he remains silent.

This was markedly noticeable during his visit to his birthplace at West Middlesex, Pa. The little town is in the district of Representative D. J. Driscoll, Democrat, who uncovered the "fake telegrams" during last year's bitter fight over the holding company act. Driscoll is being strenuously opposed by utility interests. His Republican opponent sat on the platform during Landon's speech, but the latter made no reference to him.

There is a quiet air of confidence among members of Landon's intimate group of advisers.

Privately they indulge in no extravagant claims. They do sincerely believe they have a good chance to win, but they do not belittle their opponent's strength and ability.

What Landon thinks about the possibility of his winning, not even those close to him know.

"He never talks about it," they say.

* * *

MERRY-GO-ROUND

The choir at the West Middlesex church, where Landon attended services Sunday, originally had scheduled as one of their hymns for the occasion, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds." At the last moment, however, this was changed to "Onward, Christian Soldiers," when attention was called to the fact that the governor had been married twice. His first wife died . . . Landon does not have a special chef for his private car. He eats in the regular diner of his special train . . . Local friends of the governor suggested that his uncle, William Mossman, steel company lobbyist, be kept in the background during his West Middlesex visit. But Mossman sat in the front row on the platform while Landon spoke, and on Sunday accompanied him to church.

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

People Should Watch Their Public Servants

ONE BASIC principle of free government is that each public official shall be held accountable to the people for all his official acts. There must be no screen behind which he can hide. No fringe of authority where he can dodge and shuffle. No chance to shift the blame to other shoulders. No sleight-of-hand performances in which the dice are loaded and the cards are stacked. The public official is nothing if he is not honest, with the sort of honesty which is bred into his very marrow.

* * *

The people must always be critical of their officials. Office holders must not forget that they are servants. When they get other notions of their importance their usefulness is about done. When they begin to strut and bluster, feeling as if they have some sort of option on their positions, that the public owes them something for doing their plain duty, then a house-cleaning is in order. The public may well be sparing in their praise of officials. Good deeds speak for themselves. It hardly seems necessary to reward officeholders for doing what, in all conscience, they could not help but do.

* * *

This does not mean that public men should be nagged and heckled and bombarded all the time. But it does mean that the people must constantly be on their guard aaginst those who would entrench themselves in office. It is easy to put men into office and go off and leave them there. The people think they have done their duty on election day. They may grumble sometimes, but not very often do they pass critical judgment on those whom they have put into office.

* * *

Just why a candidate, seeking re-election, thinks it necessary to justify his record is difficult to understand. Listing the notable things he has done, and omitting the blunders and errors committed, is a poor way of impressing the public. The people rightly assume that he will do his best, and owe him no particular thanks or gratitude for doing his plain duty. Not what he has done but what he has failed to do; not what he says he is but what he really is, comprises his record.

* * *

The public may well ask the incumbent these questions: Have you done your share to ease the burdens which afflict us? Have you been a stalwart champion of the traditional and constitutional rights of every citizen? Have you done all you could do to preserve our precious liberties? Have you helped to strengthen the American home and to encourage local community life from which flow our heritage to freedom? Have you done your bit to sweeten and elevate our daily living? Have you set a worthy example before your fellowmen? If so, then we say, "Well done, good and faithful servant, you may continue in your work, but we are keeping a wary eye on you."

What Other Editors Say

TOUR OF STRICKEN STATES

(The Washington Star)

The President's trip through the stricken states, it may be granted, is taken primarily in the hope of acquainting the chief executive with the situation his government is called upon to meet. It may also be taken for granted that his govenment would doubtless function just as efficiently if the chief executive chose not to undertake the personal inspection. His trip through the drought districts, just as was his visit to Quoddy in Maine and his visit to the flood-control projects of New England, will be politically expedient, possibly helpful, in his campaign. But that does not mean that he faces any legitimate criticism of playing politics with human misery. And his refusal, in the course of the inspection trip, to make any utterances that may be connected with his political campaign will go far to take the substance from charges that he is on a political tour.

LINDBERGH ON WAR

(The Manchester Union)

Frequently heard in the arguments of adherents to various peace movements is the attempt to draw a sharp line of distinction between so-called "wars of aggression" and "wars of defense." That this sort of reasoning is wrong in so far as it is applied to the problems of national security in the twentieth century was strikingly illustrated in the address of Colonel Lindbergh to an aeronautical group in Germany.

The old conception of defensive warfare that envisions an army lined up on its own side of a territorial border determined to prevent the encroachments of an enemy is no longer valid in an age that employs aircraft as instruments of war. Colonel Lindbergh's assertion of that fact simply emphasizes what already is accepted by military strategists throughout the world.

Skinny Skribbles

Around and About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

To forecast the future is impossible. We say this or that is impossible only to live long enough to see the impossible accomplished. Well do I remember the time before the linotype machine came into use. Used to wrap my legs around a stool and say well, they won't ever make a machine to set type. And I placed the first one in the small town in which I was printing a newspaper. When the airplane was in its infancy I think it was Edison who made the statement the time would come when you could take breakfast in New York City and dinner in Liverpool. When the first steam train made 15 miles an hour the people said it was an invention of the devil. Now the prediction is made that airplane transportation will make the trip across the Atlantic at 500 miles an hour, covering the distance in six hours. Boy, we've gone some distance scientifically since the days of the old musket and oxcart.

* * *

And then again some statements were made public four years ago that a lot of people still remember. It's all same as keeping a diary. Away back in the Blaine campaign something was said about: "Don't write." You can never tell when it will be used as evidence.

What the h—! Almost lost my cup of coffee. Sipping the morning java at B's, and bumpty-bump, and it's too much for a nervous temperament. I've never fully regained my composure from the earthquake of March 10, 1933. I can still imagine those undulatory motions are still going on, so when the big noise outside the cafe nearly shook the cup out of my hand, it just had to be an earthquake—but it wasn't. There are a few bumps in the street which passenger cars can take with ease, but when a truck hits them it sends a shiver down the spinal column. "Blondie" Meister says he grabs the barber chair to keep it from moving into the street. Most of this is an exaggeration, but the bumps are a reality.

* * *

It takes an election to raise the devil in a newspaper office. Tabulations cannot be made until the figures arrive, and before that time the telephone rings and rings for requests for information which is not available. There are a million interruptions, more or less, but the newspaper asked for them, so guess it's all right after all. It is just a part of newspaper making, but it's tough on the nervous system.

About the only difference between the politics of today and when I started to vote is that the game becomes more complicated.

The Countryman, a publication dedicated to the interests of the farmers and farm homes in Orange county, has been launched by Vernon King and C. E. Simmons. It is to be published twice monthly. So why shouldn't The Countryman be interesting and helpful. Any publication which contributes to the general welfare is entitled to support. Greetings, and good luck.

MOTHER'S GONE TO SLEEP

Away down South in a small Kentucky town a sweet little old lady closed the book of earthly experience, and opened the pages of eternity. For close to a century the history of this country was a retrospection to her. Through its pioneer stages to its scientific development she watched the panorama of advancement. The changing scenes, the restless world, its civil strife, and then the calmer days all came within the purview of her life. For close to one hundred years an alert mind always kept pace with the progress of the world. Into the ever lengthening shadows she carried that interest and concern for her home, country, and family. So when Noel Berry's mother fell asleep loved ones became the beneficiaries of sweet memories, and to those who came within the touch of her radiant personality she left a legacy of ineffaceable affection.
